BATTLE REPORTED TO BE RAGING IN CITY OF MEXICO

Madero's 6000 Troops Assembled in Capital Are Said to Be Bombarding Diaz and His 4000 Followers Who Are Fortified in the National Arsenal.

BOTH SIDES HAVE HEAVY ARTILLERY

President Is Confident of Defeating Nephew of Man He Succeeded—Americans Are Well Guarded by Picked Men.

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 11.—Reports received here assert that hostilities between the federals and rebels have begun in Mexico City, the federal army opening fire on the rebels.

The federals have artillery, including machine guns, placed near the National Theater and are bombarding the rebels. It is said the rebel forces now number 4000 men.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11.—Rebels and the Federal troops in the Mexican capital have taken up positions and fighting is expected to begin at any moment today. The government troops are slowly closing in on the rebels.

Madero has a total of not less than 6000 soldiers in the city and expects further reinforcements shortly.

Felix Diaz, the rebel leader, has some 2000 men under his command. The advantage given him by the capture of the artillery has now been lost, since the Government has had time to bring up field guns even from as far as Cuernavaca.

Gens. Victoriano Huerta, Felipe Angeles and Jose Maria de la Vega, the Federal commanders, began placing their men in position before daybreak today. The streets leading westward from the palace toward the position occupied by the rebels were used for parking the reserves of loyal infantry, cavalry and artillery. At the ends of these streets Federal outposts were stationed to begin the battle.

The Alameda, the big central park of the capital, was selected by the Federal commanders as the mobilization point for the Government troops.

President Madero is back in the National Palace and Senora Madero is in Chapultepec Castle. The President's brief disappearance caused a rumor that he had taken flight, but it appears that he was absent only a short time, and since then has been spending his time conferring with Gen. Huerta and ministers of his Cabinet.

Madero is confident the Government will triumph and looks on the present uprising as another foolhardy attempt of Gen. Porfirio Diaz's nephew to place the family name at the head of Mexico's list.

It is admitted at the National Palace that Gen. Blanquet has been prevented from reaching the city by the cutting of the railroad between the capital and Toluca, but some of his men have arrived.

There is reported to be a force of 1000 men under Gen. Alvarez in the mountains some fifteen miles out and 25 carloads more en route from the Cuernavaca district.

Guards for Foreigners.

An effort has been made by the diplomatic representatives to get foreign patrols for the district in which most of the foreigners live, since neither the Government nor the rebels can provide police protection. The effort has failed. The American Defense Committee has instructed the American guard at the Embassy to keep in close touch, and in case of danger, Americans armed with rifles are expected to turn out.

In case of a bombardment by either side, there will be great danger to the nearby districts, especially to the south and west of the arsenal, where many Americans live.

The national palace is guarded by 800 men of all arms, with eight or more heavy guns. Madero claims to have 1500 men upon whom he can depend.

Gen. Diaz said he had no intention of making an attack, but would await the action of the Government forces. The camps present a great similarity, all arms being represented on both sides. A squad of Chapultepec Park guards act as the personal escort of the insurgent leader.

Unlike the ordinary revolutionist, and even unlike himself at Vera Cruz, Gen. Diaz has wasted no time in issuing manifestos. Little is known of his plans, but he appears to have a large quantity of cash with him in the arsenal. Bundles of bills piled on a desk afforded an estimate of the amount as more than 200,000 pesos. As to ammunition, which the Government insists is scarce, it is said by friends of Diaz that he is abundantly supplied.

The forces of Gen. Diaz have not been augmented materially, but the proximity of the Zapatistas army and the promised early arrival of troops from Vera Cruz under Gaudencio de la Llave appear to have strengthened his hands.

Perfect order prevails throughout the city, despite the absence of the police and the almost negligible number of small patrols.

The people, unnerved by the fighting on Sunday, and the rumors of today, accepted the trick of dodging around corners and accelerating their pace when crossing streets. All banks remained closed, and most of the shops had put on their wooden shutters.

BILL OF $1122 FOR HODCARRIER'S FUNERAL

Belleville Probate Judge Holds Up Account Filed by Undertaking Co.

Probate Judge Perrin of Belleville is trying to determine whether a bill of $1122 is too much for the funeral of a hodcarrier who left no known relatives or heirs. The bill was filed against the estate of James Connors, who was found dead in bed two years ago in East St. Louis, leaving a certificate of deposit for $1526.25.

The itemized account for his funeral presented to the Probate Court by the Degen-Doussard Undertaking Co. of East St. Louis for approval, follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Coffin | $600 | 6 pallbearers | 12 |

| Horse net | 10 | | |

Public Administrator W. U. Halbert of Belleville paid the bill. He has asked the Probate Court to allow it from the estate of Connors. Judge Perrin has refused to approve it, and will hear testimony as to the correctness of the account.

A woman who said her name is Mrs. Mary Tinan of 2307 Morgan street, St. Louis, appeared in court Monday and told Judge Perrin that she is the widow of Connors, and that she married him 22 years ago in St. Louis under the name of Tinan. She produced a marriage certificate in support of her story. She announced that she will contest the claim of the undertaker.

"DRYS" OF HOUSE UNITE IN PLAN TO BLOCK HOME RULE

Star Chamber Session Decides on Boycott in Effort to Beat Bates Bills.

NONE IS TO BE SPARED

Even Gov. Major's Measures Will Be Sacrificed—Four-Hour Caucus Determines.

By J. J. McAULIFFE.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

POST-DISPATCH BUREAU. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—Dry leaders are planning to defeat the Business Men's League home rule bills at the sacrifice of all important legislation. Gov. Major's pet measures will not be spared. War is to be declared on legislators taking a stand for home rule by placing a boycott on the bills they have introduced.

Representative E. C. Orr of Livingston County, floor leader of the Democratic majority in the House, has been singled out for special attack because of his friendliness to home rule for St. Louis.

The legislative plan of the prohibition forces was hatched at a star chamber caucus of "dry" members in the apartments of Representative Thomas J. Roney on the top floor of the Madison Hotel. Besides Roney, others in attendance included Representatives Charles M. Hay of Callaway County, J. W. McKnight of Gentry, E. L. Moore of Barton and Charles J. Wright of Springfield.

Four-Hour Secret Session.

The meeting, which was conducted with the greatest secrecy, lasted from 8 o'clock last night until after midnight. The legislators who were present solemnly pledged themselves to several propositions, which, if carried out, may bring disaster on Gov. Major's administration. After discussing ways and means to "embarrass" those Democrats who had taken a position in support of their party platform on home rule, the Business Men's League bills were taken up.

"Why not advocate the elective, instead of the appointive, system for the Police and Excise Commissioners and put the friends of these measures in the hole at once?" suggested Hay. "The Democratic platform declares strongly in favor of the elective system."

"But, suppose the opposition should accept the proposition to enact an elective home rule bill, where would that leave it?" put in Wright of Springfield.

"Well, I guess we will abandon that plan," said Hay, and the discussion then proceeded along other lines.

It finally was decided that each of those present should endeavor to induce at least five of his fellow members to bolt the Democratic joint caucus scheduled for Wednesday night to consider the home rule bills.

It was the judgment of some of those at the meeting, and all of them were Democrats, that Chairman Orr should be requested to call a special House caucus Tuesday night. This proposition precipitated an interesting conversation relative to Representative Orr and the bills he has introduced.

Want Unit Bill Passed.

After Orr had been hauled over the legislative coals the star chamber decided that the House leader would not be embarrassed by anything they might do and it was better therefore to defer action until after the joint caucus. Hay then began calling the roll of members from a carefully prepared pamphlet, showing the "wets" and "drys," the "prohibitionists" and the "ultra-conservatives."

The totals indicated the "drys" had a majority of the House, with 14 Republican members counted in. The opinion was expressed that they could not, un-

SCOTT, DYING, WROTE OF EXPLORERS' LAST HOURS

FOOD AND SHELTER 11 MILES OFF, MEN PERISH

Scott's Dying Appeal: "THINGS have come out against us and therefore we have no cause for complaint, but bow to the will of Providence, determined to do our best to the last. * * * These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale, but surely, surely a great, rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent on us are properly provided for."

DEAD EIGHT MONTHS WHEN THEIR FROZEN BODIES WERE FOUND

Captain's Diary, Kept Up in the Final Hours, Reveals Hero Who, Ill, Deliberately Walked Away to Death So He Would Not Hinder Companions.

DESPAIRING RECORD KEPT IN LAST HOURS

Wrote of "Cold Beyond Imagination," Said He Had No Regrets for Own Sake and Appealed for Dependents Who Were Left.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The tragic story of how Capt. Robert Falcon Scott and four members of his British Antarctic expedition perished of cold and hunger in the desolate South Polar wilderness, after having reached the pole and returned to within eleven miles of a supply camp, is told by Capt. Scott himself in a diary which he wrote up to the very end until death stilled his fingers. The diary, perhaps the most tragic human document that ever came out of the polar wilds, was found by a rescue party in the tent where the dead bodies of Capt. Scott and his companions were discovered, eight months after they had died.

Capt. Scott and the four men made up the party that made the final dash to the pole from the last base of supplies. The entire expedition, of more than 50 men, was not lost, as at first reported, most of the members having remained at the supply bases.

In the diary Capt. Scott tells how he and his companions reached the pole Jan. 18, 1912, only to find that Capt. Amundsen's Norwegian expedition had planted the flag of another country there, and left in a hut the records of its victory. He tells how one of the five, weakened by exposure, fell on the ice and suffered injuries that caused his death, and how another, whose hands and feet were frostbitten, struggled for days to reach camp, and finally walked from the tent out into a blizzard to die, believing the others could save their lives if he were out of the way.

Body of Hero Never Found.

The hero never was seen again by the three surviving members of the party, the diary says. His body was not found by the rescue party.

The discovery was made Nov. 12, nearly eight months after the disaster, by a searching party of 11 members, in two divisions, which left Cape Evans Oct. 30, provisioned for three months. They found One-Ton Camp in order, and provisioned, then, proceeding along the southern route, they sighted Capt. Scott's tent. In it they found his body and the bodies of Dr. Wilson and Lieut. Bowers, and the records telling of the deaths of Evans and Oates.

The members of the searching party were Surgeon Atkinson, Garrard and Demetri, with the dog teams; in the first division, and in the second division, Wright, Nelson, Gran, Lashley, Crean, Williamson, Keohane and Hooper, with seven Indian mules. Wright's division first sighted Scott's tent.

With hands and arms weakened by hunger and benumbed by cold, Capt. Scott recorded the struggles of himself and his living companions in trying to reach food and fuel, and how a terrible blizzard, known to have lasted nine days, caught and held them only 11 miles from One Ton Camp, where an abundance of everything they needed awaited them.

The last entry in the diary was made March 29, and Capt. Scott there expresses the belief that no human beings ever went through such hardships as he and his companions suffered in the month preceding that date. The diary closes with the declaration that the commander and his two companions will die courageously and not regretfully, as martyrs to science, and with a plea that those dependent upon the five members of the party be provided for by their countrymen.

The dead are:

Capt. Robert F. Scott, commander of the expedition.

Dr. E. A. Wilson, chief of the scientific staff, zoologist and artist.

Lieut. H. R. Bowers of the Royal Indian Marines.

Capt. L. E. G. Oates of the Inniskilling Dragoons.

SCOTT'S DIARY

MESSAGE to the Public: "The causes of this disaster are not due to faulty organization, but to misfortune in all the risks which had to be undertaken. One, the loss of pony transport in March, 1911, obliged me to start later than I had intended and obliged the limits of stuff transported to be narrowed.

"The weather throughout the outward journey, and especially the long gale in 83 degrees south, stopped us. The soft snow in the lower reaches of the glacier again reduced the pace.

"We fought these untoward events with will and conquered, but it ate into our provisions reserve. Every detail of our food supplies, clothing and depots made on the interior ice sheet and on that long stretch of 700 miles to the pole and back worked out to perfection.

"The advance party would have returned to the glacier in fine form and with a surplus of food, but for the astonishing failure of the man whom we had least expected to fail. Seaman Edgar Evans was thought to be the strongest man of the party, and Beardmore Glacier is not difficult in fine weather.

"BUT on our return we did not get a single completely fine day. This, with a sick companion, enormously increased our anxieties. I have said elsewhere that we got into frightfully rough ice and Edgar Evans received a concussion of the brain. He died a natural death, but left us a shaken party, with the season unduly advanced.

"But all the facts above enumerated were as nothing to the surprise which awaited us at the barrier. I maintain that our arrangements for returning were quite adequate, and that no one in the world would have done better in the weather which we encountered at this time of the year.

"On the summit, in latitude 85 degrees to 86 degrees, we had minus twenty to minus thirty. On the barrier, in latitude 82 degrees, 10,000 feet lower, we had minus thirty in the day and minus forty-seven at night pretty regularly, with a continuous headwind during our day marches.

"I DO not think human beings ever came through such a month as we have come through, and we should have got through in spite of the weather but for the sickening of a second companion, Capt. Oates, and a shortage of fuel in our depots for which I cannot account, and, finally, but for the storm which has fallen on us within 11 miles of the depot at which we hoped to secure the final supplies. Surely misfortune could scarcely have exceeded this last blow.

"Capt. Oates was a brave soul. He slept through each night hoping that he would not wake, but he awoke in the morning. It was blowing a blizzard and Oates said: 'I am just going outside and may be gone some time.'

"Then he went out into the blizzard and we have not seen him since. We knew he was walking to his death, but though we tried our best to dissuade him, we felt it was the act of a brave man and an English gentleman.

"We arrived within 11 miles of our old One-Ton camp with fuel for one hot meal and food for two days. For four days we have been unable to leave the tent, the gale blowing about us. We are weak.

"WRITING is difficult, but, for my own sake, I do not regret this journey, which has shown that Englishmen can endure hardships, help one another and meet death with as great a fortitude as ever in the past. We took risks. We knew we took them. Things have come out against us, and therefore we have no cause for complaint, but bow to the will of Providence, determined still to do our best to the last.

"But if we have been willing to give our lives to this enterprise, which is for the honor of our country, I appeal to our countrymen to see that those who depend on us are properly cared for. Had we lived I should have had a tale to tell of the hardihood, endurance and courage of my companions which would have stirred the heart of every Englishman.

"These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale, but surely, surely, a great, rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent on us are properly provided for. R. SCOTT."

"March 29, 1912."

J. A. PATTEN PAYS $4000 FINE FOR POOL IN COTTON

Chicago Speculator Pleads Guilty to Six Charges of Restraining Trade.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—James A. Patten of Chicago, cotton and grain speculator, pleaded guilty in the Federal Court here today to six counts in an indictment charging him with restraint of trade.

Judge Mayer fined Patton $4000, which was paid immediately.

It was reported generally that the promoters of the "corner" had profited $10,000,000 by the deal.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 11.—The three other members of the cotton "bull pool" indicted jointly with James A. Patten in connection with the "bull" campaign in the 1910-11 cotton crop, will not plead guilty to the Federal anti-trust indictment in New York, according to a statement by William P. Brown today.

TAFTS BEGIN TO MOVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—President Taft today began to make the White House ready for the occupancy of Woodrow Wilson.

Scores of articles belonging to the Taft family were taken from the attic and started on the way to New Haven. Much of the Taft furniture was collected while the President was Secretary of War, and many articles were brought back from the Philippines.

SLAP IN WOMEN'S FACE FIRES MRS. CHAMP CLARK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—"I am a suffragist and will march in the parade March 3," said Mrs. Champ Clark at equal suffrage headquarters Monday. "I did not intend to take an active part until Representative Thomas Heflin of Alabama gave us a slap in the face in a speech at Falls Church, Va., Sunday night. There's nothing that fires a woman like a lick in the face from a man."

The suffragists are going to ask the House and Senate to adjourn the afternoon of March 3, one of the busiest legislative days of the year, for the parade.

Letters inviting the 40 Senators and Representatives from the nine equal suffrage states to march in the big parade have been sent out. The invitation says that the Congressmen will march in the procession whose banner reads, "Women helped elect these men."

Buys Rings and Loses Them.

Charles Thornworth of Litchfield, Ill., complained to Central Station police Monday night that he had been robbed of three rings worth $100 which he purchased Monday. He suspected an acquaintance, whose arrest he caused. The rings were not found.

O. L. GARRISON LOSES FINGER ON SHIP IN STORM

Abandons Trip, Hurries Here to Save Two Others Crushed by Swinging Window.

Oliver L. Garrison, president of the Big Muddy Coal and Iron Co., and a director of the Merchants-Laclede Bank, is recovering at his home, 4005 Westminster place, from an unusual accident, which caused the removal of one of his fingers by the surgeon of a ship nearing Havana, Cuba, and caused Garrison to abandon an extensive cruise and hasten back to St. Louis for expert medical attention, to save two more fingers.

Garrison was one of several St. Louisans who departed for a trip to the Panama Canal Zone by way of Cuba and other points in the West Indies and Central America.

Just before the island of Cuba was sighted, a violent squall swept over the sea and a blinding rain accompanied the high winds. Garrison ran to the porthole of his stateroom to close it, and while he was trying to do so, the porthole window, swinging back and forth furiously in the [illegible] caught his left hand. The tips of two fingers were crushed and a third finger was so badly mangled that it had to be removed at once.

On arriving at Havana, Garrison boarded the next steamer for the United States and hurried to St. Louis. By doing so, he probably saved the other two fingers, his friends say. His condition is improving rapidly, it was said Tuesday at his home, and the hand seems to be healing satisfactorily.

Walked Away to His Death to Help the Others

ON March 16 it was evident that Capt. Oates, with hands and feet frost-bitten, could no longer keep up. Scott said in his diary:

"HE was a brave soul. He slept through each night hoping that he would not wake, but he awoke in the morning. It was blowing a blizzard and Oates said: 'I am just going outside and may be gone some time.'

"THEN he went out into the blizzard and we have not seen him since. We knew he was walking to his death, but though we tried our best to dissuade him, we felt it was the act of a brave man and an English gentleman."

killing Dragoons, in charge of ponies and dogs.

Petty Officer E. Evans.

The story of the disaster is told in thrilling terms by Capt. Scott himself, for his diary was found in perfect condition. It is written up to what is thought may have been only a few days of his death.

The Pole was reached Jan. 18, 1912. There they found the hut and records left by Amundsen. It was on the way back to the base of supplies that the party was overwhelmed. They had succeeded but they lost their lives, martyrs to science.

The bodies of Scott and his companions were left where found, a cairn being erected around the tent surmounted by a cross to which their names were attached.

Receiving no news of the missing explorers and after the failure of several previous efforts to get in touch with the southern party, a searching party left Cape Evans at the end of October last in two sections. Party No. 1 was headed by Surgeon Atkinson, who had dog teams, with Cherry Garrard and Demetri, the dog drivers.

Party No. 2 was in charge of Wright and consisted of eight men with seven Indian mules. Realizing that a long and widespread search was inevitable, both parties took several months' provisions and both parties reached One Ton Camp, which was found intact. The food and equipment were found untouched. Atkinson and the dog teams remained in charge while Wright's party set out on the southern track, along which the expedition had gone toward the pole.

They had not proceeded far when a tent was sighted, which proved to be Scott's tent. Hope that any might be alive was almost abandoned by this time, but the rescuers rushed up to the tent, only to find their worst fears confirmed. The dead bodies of Scott, Wilson and Bowers were found inside the tent. They had perished from exposure and lay peacefully together. Records had been kept up to March 29, which recorded their arrival at the Pole and the deaths of Evans and Oates.

Beside the bodies were found records of the terrible journey, kept by Scott almost to the end. They show that the first death, that of Petty Officer Evans, occured Feb. 17 at Beardmore, caused by an injury received when traveling over the rough ice, and this, added to the effects of exposure, caused his death. Oates, too, had suffered dreadfully, his hands and feet being badly frostbitten, but he bore himself manfully and uncomplainingly for four weeks more, while the party struggled painfully on. At length his comrades recognized that it was impossible he could last much longer.

Oates himself appeared to realize this also. On the night of March 16 he expressed the hope that he would die in his sleep, but this merciful end was not granted to him. The next day he staggered out of the tent in the teeth of the raging blizzard, saying he would be away some time, and his companions never saw him again.

After this Scott, Wilson and Bowers sadly continued the journey northward in the teeth of desperate weather until forced to camp, March 21, in latitude 79:40 south, longitude 169:23 east. This was their last camp, for here, within 11 miles of One-Ton depot, their bodies were found six months later. Here it was the great blizzard, which is known to have lasted nine days, overtook them and their food and fuel giving out, they died side by side.

The blizzard in which Scott and his companions succumbed must have been of terrible severity to overcome them while in the shelter of their tent, but they had evidently suffered terribly beforehand from exposure and battling against the previous blizzards.

Capt. Scott expresses in his writing an opinion that no human beings ever went through such hardship as he and his companions did in the month before they reached the final camp. Even then, he believed that they would have come through but for Capt. Oates falling ill and also for the shortage of fuel in the depot, for which he was unable to account. Finally, there came a storm, overtaking them within 11 miles of the depot at which he expected to secure his final supplies.

It is evident from the entries in Capt. Scott's diary, which are headed "Message to the Public," that he fully realized his explanations for delays and difficulties ultimately ending in disaster must be given to his friends at home by written, not spoken words. His blunt phrases show he determined there could not possibly be any misunderstanding.

"The causes of this disaster," he writes, "are not due to faulty organization, but to misfortune in all the risks which had to be undertaken."

Three more reasons advanced by Scott were:

1. That not only was he obliged to start later than he originally planned, but also was obliged to considerably limit his stores transported owing to losing his ponies in March, 1911.

2. The party was hampered by bad weather during the whole journey towards the pole, particularly a long gale in 63 degrees south.

3. When they were moving the pace was slow owing to the softness of the snow in the lower reaches.

These adverse conditions did not affect the party's courage and mental strength, but did seriously affect the reserve food supplies.

It was on account of no failing of plans regarding the disposition of stores depots along the track to the Pole and back, but the unexpected failure of one member of the party, who was believed to be the strongest, Petty Officer Evans. If he had lived up to expectations the party would have returned well and with plenty of provisions.

Capt. Scott remarks on the Beardmore as not difficult when the weather is fine, but on the return journey there was not one fine day, which, with the invalid on their hands added to the difficulties.

Evans died a natural death. It shook the party's morale as well as causing a delay.

Almost at the end, on the barrier, the greatest surprise awaited the daring explorers. The weather was cold beyond imagination, Capt. Scott wrote. "No one in the world would have expected the temperature and surface that we encountered at this time of the year."

The temperature ranged from minus 20 to minus 30 in latitude 85 degrees to 86 degrees.

Efforts had previously been made by searching parties to meet the returning explorers. In the beginning of March, 1912, Cherry Garrard and Demetri, who were attached to the Western party under Dr. Atkinson, set out southward with two dog teams in the hope of meeting Scott and his companions, who were expected to reach Hut Point about March 10. On March 3 they reached One Ton Depot, near which Scott, Wilson and Bowers succumbed 19 days later. After waiting until March 10, they were obliged to return, chiefly owing to the scarcity of food for the dogs. The weather was excessively severe and the dogs, in an impoverished condition, suffered severely.

By the time Hut Point was reached, the dogs, almost without exception, were frost bitten and so exhausted that they were temporarily useless for further team work. Cherry Garrard was suffering from an over-strained heart, while his mate also was ill.

Neither Atkinson nor Evans accompanied this party, Evans being down with scurvy and Atkinson having to remain with him. On the return of the Garrard-Demetri party, Atkinson and Keohane, who were the only two sound men left, made another gallant dash to Corners Camp, which course was necessary, as communication with Capt. Evans was now impossible owing to the ship having gone and no other means being present to cross the open sea which intervened.

The sledge journey to Corners Camp was made in exceptionally rough weather, and arriving there Atkinson and Keohane soon found they couldn't give the assistance they had hoped, so after making a depot containing a supply of provisions sufficient to last one week they regretfully returned to Hut Point.

When April came communication with Cape Evans was restored, and the party, consisting of Atkinson, Wright, Williamson and Keohane, endeavored to relieve Camp Bell, but the effect was frustrated by open water which they found barring their path at Butter Point, causing them to return at once, which they did none too soon, as the sea ice commenced breaking up, thereby making their progress exciting and ultimately exceedingly dangerous.

Discovery of Bodies.

After overcoming almost insurmountable obstacles, the Atkinson party reached the tent where they found the dead bodies of Scott and Dr. Wilson and Lieut. Bowers. The records they had kept show they had died nearly eight months before.

The burial service was read over their bodies, and a cairn and cross were erected at the tent after their bodies were buried there.

The party then searched for 20 miles south, endeavoring to discover the body of Capt. Oates. It was not found, but another cairn and record were left in the vicinity to his memory.

The search party then turned northward, with Capt. Scott's diary and other records they found in the tent.

DELICATE, TIRED WOMEN

This is an unnatural condition—a little rest each day and Scott's Emulsion after every meal gives nature the material to restore strength.

Scott's Emulsion is a strength-building, curative food and tonic to overcome weakness and fatigue—contains no alcohol or drug.

It doesn't stupefy the nerves, it feeds them.

Expectant and nursing mothers always need Scott's Emulsion.

DRYS OF HOUSE UNITE IN PLAN TO BLOCK HOME RULE

der these circumstances, control the Democratic joint caucus unless new converts to their cause were made. In any event they could walk out even though, as Representative Roney remarked, "This would be a grave blunder unless some good excuse could be found for it."

It was unanimously asserted that the Senate is against the county unit local option bill, which would bring about absolute prohibition in 40 cities of Missouri, outside St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, if enacted into law. A motion was carried that the House or such of its Democratic and Republican membership as Hay and his coterie could control, should refuse to take any action on home rule until the Senate has passed the county unit bill.

"We cannot and we will not support these home rule measures," said Representative Hay. "They are lid-lifting propositions, and we must call them such if we are to influence votes against them. It is a fight to a finish, apparently, with the Senate. We must insist that the demand for home rule comes from the same source as that which opposed the county unit local option bill—the breweries, and nothing more."

Phillips Introduces Bill Putting Clubs Under Dramshop Laws.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—All St. Louis social clubs, including the Mercantile, Noonday and other organizations, will be subject to the provisions for dramshop laws under the terms of a bill introduced by Senator Phillips today.

The license fee for a club is fixed at 5 per cent of its gross receipts, but the minimum shall not be less than $50. Each club must report once a month to the Excise Commissioner, a statement of all receipts and expenditures, the names of club members and other detailed information.

Senate Concurs and Major Will Sign Primary Bill Wednesday.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—Gov. Major tomorrow will sign the new primary law for St. Louis. The Senate today voted unanimously to concur in the House amendments to the bill. The bill then was sent to the enrolling force and will be signed at once by President Painter of the Senate and Speaker Hull of the House. It becomes effective immediately.

Senate Defeats Bill for Women School Directors in Country.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—The cause of woman's suffrage in Missouri received a blow today when the Senate refused to pass the Craig bill permitting women to serve as school directors in the rural districts. The vote was 17 to 13.

MAN HURT, 750 GALLONS OF OIL ARE SPILLED

Driver Turns to Get Out of Way of Car, Forced to Back Down Incline by Wagon Ahead.

A Bellefontaine car Tuesday morning was attempting to ascend the south incline of the Fourteenth street viaduct. On the slippery tracks in front of the car was a heavy cement wagon, and directly behind the car was a Waters Pierce oil tank wagon.

The horses pulling the cement wagon were stalled and the wagon started to back into the street car. C. H. Haecken, the conductor, started to back the car, and Henry Wessel, the driver of the oil wagon, turned his horses sharply to get them out of the way of the car.

The oil wagon overturned and 750 gallons of oil were spilled on the bridge. Wessel fell and his right hip was fractured. An ambulance took him to his home at 3036 North Twenty-first street.

The "Butt-I-Nol" Silk Stocking is the latest idea in Stockings. They are made of pure thread black silk with double lisle sole and high spliced heels. It has four-inch double welt with six reinforced BUTTON HOLES to receive the supporter clasps.

The supporter clasps, once adjusted, stay in place; they slip easily into the button-hole always with the same tension; never "too loose," never "too tight," and prevent the stocking from "running." The clasps CANNOT work loose, thus insuring comfort, security and economy. Nearly all Stockings are either "reinforced" or "spliced." This Stocking is BOTH. After it was reinforced a splicing of silk was added traversely, thereby LOCKING the reinforcement, so that the loops cannot give way. The price of this Stocking is

$1.50 a Pair

ENGLAND MOURNS HER INTREPID SON, LAUDING HIS DARING

"Oh! The Terrible, Terrible Tragedy of it All," Cries a Companion on Discovery.

PRAISE AND GRIEF MINGLE

Lord Charles Beresford Calls Death of Scott "a National Loss."

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1913, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.)

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Dr. Louis Charles Bernacchi, who was with Capt. Scott on the discovery expedition, theorizing in the Chronicle on the causes of the disaster, says:

"Knowing the conditions of polar sledging in the Antarctic, where there is no game, and one is entirely dependent upon food supplies carried on sledges, I have little doubt that the party perished as the result of starvation. A blizzard in their weakened condition would have brought about a climax.

"Oh, the terrible, terrible tragedy of it all! Perhaps, even, they struggled on and on, at last crawling upon their hands and knees, dying almost in sight of their winter hut and food supplies. I know what it is to pull sledges over the dead white, monotonous surface day after day, week after week, month after month, and toward the end with nothing to eat. Visions of food, food, food all the livelong day and the long night. I believe the diary of Scott and his companions during the last days of their journey will make the most heart-rending story in the history of polar exploration."

No Thought of Such a Disaster.

Sir Allen William Young, who was navigating officer of the Fox search for the records of Franklin's ships, said this morning:

"Before Scott left England I discussed with him the general aspect of his expedition, and I know that the thought of a disaster such as this never crossed his mind. Indeed, it never crossed the minds of any of us.

"It is the first time I ever heard of a party being overtaken by a blizzard in the polar regions, and the probability is that the men, who may have been ill or worn with exhaustion, were unable to resist the elements. They had evidently been on the move for a long time, judging from the fact that it was two months after they had reached the pole, and I know from experience that traveling under these conditions is very exhausting."

Dr. W. Bruce of the Oceanographical Laboratory at Edinburgh, who achieved considerable distinction in Antarctic exploration, regards the reports of scurvy having broken out among the supporting party after they had left Scott as rather significant. They might indicate that Scott's advance party was also afflicted with scurvy and consequently would be weakened and unable to resist the severity of an Antarctic blizzard as a healthy party would have been.

Like Picking Up an Ocean Buoy.

Dr. Eric Marshall, surgeon of the Shackleton expedition, said:

"The Scott party was overwhelmed by a blizzard which had lasted for some time, and made it impossible for them to travel. They may have missed a depot. Unless you can travel on the same line as that of posts set up, you might as well try to pick up a buoy in the ocean as to find depots.

"Scott, I understand, adopted the same method as we did to preserve his line of communication. Each depot was marked by an upturned sledge to which was fixed a long bamboo pole with a flag lashed to the top. On a clear day this could be seen at a distance of four miles. I believe Scott had provided that other ponies or dog teams should await him at the foot of the glacier and I understood he had plenty of supplies left at various depots. From the foot of the glaciers to his winter quarters on that part of the journey the only danger would be that of being overwhelmed by a blizzard. Even if you know you are near a depot it is impossible to move until the blizzard has abated."

Lord Beresford's Tribute.

Lord Charles Beresford said: "Scott served under me. He was a charming man, a brilliant officer and a delightful companion. It is no exaggeration to say the death of Scott is little short of a national loss, since he had a brilliant future in front of him had he been spared to return to civilization and the navy."

Reginald Smith of Smith, Elder & Co., who published Scott's book, "The Voyage of the Discovery," said:

"I recall the day he came to see me when he got back from his last South Pole expedition. He just looked in quite casually and said: 'I want you to publish my book.' I agreed, and in a short time we had fixed up terms.

"He used to come every few days or so with a chapter. 'This is dull stuff,' he said one day. 'I'm sure nobody will read it,' but we found that it was wonderful writing. He really had a remarkable gift for description.

Barrie Praised Scott's Vivid Tale.

J. M. Barrie once told me that chapter of his on getting his ship out of the ice was the most thrilling thing in literature. What more can I say of Scott than that he was as straight, true a man as one could find the world over?"

A writer in the Daily Graphic recalls a speech made by Scott at a dinner given in his honor shortly before leaving England. The previous speakers had chaffingly suggested various reasons for his return to the Antarctic. Scott in reply said quite simply: "I'm going because I think England ought to do it and I should like to be the man."

CAPT. SCOTT AND HIS PARTY ON THE TERRA NOVA.

This photograph was taken in the cabin of the ship by the official photographer of the expedition shortly before the last dash to the South Pole was started. Capt. Scott is shown at the head of the table.

The next man but one at Capt Scott's left at the head of the table, wearing a white cap, is Dr. Wilson, who perished with him. Oates, who knowingly went to his death for the good of the expedition, is the man standing against the wall, second from the right, with his head against a picture of King George. E. R. G. Evans, who has succeeded to the command of the expedition, is leaning over the table, his head showing just above the bearded man with pencil in hand, at the left of the picture. The nearest man at the left, wearing tasseled cap, is C. S. Wright, who found the bodies of Scott, Wilson and Bowers and their records.

SCOTT'S APPEAL TO PRODUCE FUND FOR DEPENDENTS

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Grief and pride in the simple narrative of high courage, endurance and sacrifice given in Capt. Robert F. Scott's farewell message to the world are close competitors for dominance in the feelings of the British public today.

"It is a white and not a black mourning we wear for these gallant souls who have done and dared so greatly," was the comment of a Cabinet minister.

The closing words of Capt. Scott's epic were:

not regret their journey.

Capt. Scott's interest in the welfare of the men was emphasized by practically the last business he transacted before he left to join the expedition in New Zealand. This was the sale of his story.

He declined to make any private profit from the transaction and decided that the total receipts should go to increase the financial reward of the men who had

"Had we lived I should have had a tale to tell of the hardihood, the endurance and the courage of my companions which would have stirred the heart of every Englishman. These rough notes and our dead bodies must tell the tale. But surely, surely a great and rich country like ours will see that those who are dependent upon us are properly provided for."

Funds Are to Be Raised.

These words have had an electric effect. Steps were taken at once to respond to his appeal by assuring a comfortable future for those dependent on the men who, while awaiting certain death, could still write that they did undertaken to share with him the dangers of the Antarctic region.

It was therefore arranged that all sum realized from the story of the adventure should be distributed among the members of the crew as a surprise bonus on their return to England.

Mrs. Scott is assured of a good pension from the British Government.

A memorial service for Capt. Scott and his companions is to be held in St. Paul's Cathedral on Friday.

POLITICAL RIOTS IN TOKIO AND OSAKA; SIX KILLED, 65 HURT

Clashes With Police, Attempts to Burn Newspaper Offices and the Burning of Street Cars, Follow Stoning of Premier Katsura and Demand He Quit.

EMPEROR LIKELY TO YIELD TO THE MOBS

Expected to Accept Resignation of Katsuro Cabinet—Yamamoto Willing to Accept Place—Cold Drives Rioters to Shelter.

By Associated Press.

TOKIO, Feb. 11.—Violent political riots broke out in the city of Osaka today. The offices of the newspapers which support Prince Katsura, the Premier, were attacked by great mobs. Several deaths are reported.

The Osaka riots followed the political rioting here, in which six persons were killed and 65 seriously injured.

The severe cold finally compelled the mobs to seek shelter. There were no further disturbances up to midday and the authorities withdrew the patrols of soldiers from the streets.

The rioting appears to have convinced the Government of the futility of endeavoring to continue the Katsura regime.

Katsura and his Cabinet, who assembled at 10 o'clock last evening, remained in session until this afternoon. The building where they met was strongly guarded by police and soldiers.

The Emperor Calls Council.

The council of elder statesmen was called together by the Emperor at the imperial palace this afternoon.

Following these meetings it was semi-officially announced that the resignation of Katsura and his colleagues would be accepted by the Emperor.

Count Gombei Yamamoto, formerly Minister of Marine, has signified his willingness to accept the premiership, together with the leadership of the old Constitutional party, of which the Marquis Saionji has been chief.

Prince Katsura will in the meantime proceed with the organization of his proposed new Progressive party.

Official announcement of the change of administration probably will be made before the Diet meets again on Thursday.

In the riots here Premier Katsura was stoned in the streets, mobs attacked the offices of the bureaucratic newspapers and threatened the dwellings of the ministers. They burned and wrecked police stations, tram cars and private dwellings.

The Minister of the imperial household announces martial law will be proclaimed if there are further attempts at incendiarism.

A mass meeting was held in Ibanya Park, in the center of the city. The mob started from there to attack Prince Katsura's dwelling. Police with drawn swords drove them back, charging several times and wounding many of the demonstrators.

One of Rioters Killed.

The crowds reassembled around the building of the newspaper Kokumin Shimbun, with the intention of burning it. The staff of the newspaper offered strenuous resistance with firearms, swords and knives.

One of the rioters was killed. This infuriated the mob, which then looted the oil shops and attacked offices of other newspapers.

In a second attack on the Kokumin Shimbun building, bundles of burning straw were thrown within.

Two more persons were killed and more than a score injured.

Earlier, crowds assembled outside the Diet, where strong forces of police were drawn up to protect the members. Serious collisions ensued. Three persons were killed and 25 wounded in that neighborhood. Many policemen were injured.

The Constitutional party resolved by a practicaly unanimous vote to fight the Government to a finish. Recently Premier Katsura's attempt to break up the opposition to his Ministry by the use of an imperial rescript addressed to Marquis Saionji caused the popular demand for his resignation.

CARDINAL GIBBONS URGES RIGID LENT OBSERVANCE

Holy Season Should Be Spent in Repentance, Not Rest, Says Prelate.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 11.—Cardinal Gibbons said Monday that it is time some of those calling themselves Christians call a halt on their lack of respect for the season of Lent and their disregard for the rules and observances of the season.

"Those who go to the seaside, to the mountains or to some other resort to spend the Lenten season when they consider everything 'dead' are to be censured," asserted the Cardinal.

"They are not obeying the command of the church to spend this holy season in repentance for their sins. They imagine that by going off to some restful place they are observing the rules which forbid social gayeties. They are as much to blame as those who dance and enter into other forms of amusement.

"Dances, card parties, theaters and every other form of amusement should be cast aside for the 40 days."

Entire Block—Sixth, Washington, Seventh and Lucas

Continuing the February Sale of Laces and Embroideries

"The Lace Store of St. Louis" Is Admirably Living Up to Its Reputation, in This Annual February Sale!

There were nearly 150,000 yards of most beautiful Laces in the annual February Sale which began here Monday morning. There are the cleverest specimens from every lace producing country in the world—there are thousands of yards of real Irish Laces—of shadow and Venice Laces, of linen Cluny, hand-machine and handmade Laces—as well as Embroideries of most beautiful patterns from St. Gall, Switzerland.

We invite every St. Louis woman who did not visit this Lace Store on Monday or today to be here Wednesday, or at some other time this week. For we cannot see how any woman can afford, from an educational standpoint, to miss this exhibition. Even though you have not the least desire to buy at this time, you will, we are sure, enjoy to the utmost a close examination of these most delicately-woven pieces of finery.

And your satisfaction will be that much greater when you note that the prices are not out of reason—they are decidedly lower than you have probably ever seen on similar qualities.

Yes, they are within your reach! They are within the reach of almost every woman.

But on to price and descriptive details.

2500 Yards of Allover Laces at Half Price!

A prize-lot secured from a convent in Southern France, and included are Robes cleverly embroidered on sheer materials—many with insets of heavy wreath floral designs, or allover embroidered, and then there are others in small bordered designs. Can be easily fashioned into very chic dresses, and instead of $15 to $39.50, as they would be ordinarily priced, choose, in the February Lace Sale at, only $10.

$15 Dresden Robes, $7.50

The February Lace Sale brings these beautiful little Edges and Insertions, in the finest and in the heavy weaves, at just about half regular prices.

$3 Cluny Laces at $1.50 yard.
$2 Cluny Laces at $1 yard.

Embd. Flounces, 98c Yd.

ALONG about the year 1830, a traveler on the frontier settlement of Illinois might have seen a tall, gaunt, awkward, sad-looking young man of about twenty-one, clothed in a suit of brown jean, hard at work near a log cabin on the banks of the River Sangamon.

It was this young man who was destined to become his country's President.

The beloved Lincoln, whose birthday will be observed tomorrow, was the greatest altruist since the writing of the Bible! His utterances, one of which we quote, will live as long as time:

"With malice toward none; charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in."

See tonight's Times for details of a Sale of Women's New Spring Silk Dresses, made to sell for $25, $30 and $35, but the sale price of which is $15. (Third Floor.)

What One Woman Saw on a Trip Through the Store—

Such dainty bits of finery, in Handkerchiefs—sheerest pieces of linen inserted, and edges with the most delicate Madeira.

Ribbons in such odd colors that they really have an air of the Middle Age and in such charming varieties of Persian and velvet designs—the crisp, bright taffetas and the soft, glowing messalines.

And the newest Hair Ornaments—what attraction is added to the coiffure when finished with those dearest, most-natural-looking little butterflies of gold or silver braid.

Jewelry, too, in such new and pretty novelties—"The Friendship Circle," and so many others as to almost beggar description.

Most charming of all—the Laces and Embroideries—so sweet, so dainty and so pleasing that one hesitates to leave this Section.

The Candies invited us to peep into their chocolate shells where they hid the most delicious fruits and nuts!

The Gloves! Milady views with delight all the new shades which will so perfectly match every gown.

Silks show the most interesting changes—the new Bulgarians, Persians and exquisite border designs covering Louis XV and Louis XVI periods and in almost riotous colors of almost startling combinations!

On to the Shoe Section where the selling was fast and furious! No wonder—for think of $3 and $4 Summer White Shoes for $1.50!

Then for Milady's Boudoir—a pair of those Linen Pillowcases, embroidered so charmingly by the little Madeira Islander—priced $7.50 and $9.50.

And, oh, dear! Those Night-gowns—to sleep, to dream, to wake in one of those dainty garments, smothered with the dearest laces, insertions and bows of ribbons.

Then to throw carelessly in the corner, one of those Sofa Pillows, so exquisitely done in cross-stitching or the "Lazy Daisy" design, would add so much to den or living room.

Then I sat in a cozy corner of "The Model Home," whose floor-covering was an Anglo-Persian Rug—a most wonderful creation in brown with most gorgeous Bokhara pattern—the sheen and luster of which can hardly be imagined—priced $60.

Ah! It was a trip which was very instructive and profitable too!

BULGARS REPORT KILLING OF 6000 TURKS IN BATTLE

Assert These Casualties at Bulair Are in Addition to Dead at Tchatalja.

MINIMIZE OWN LOSSES

Put Total at 100 and Tell of Desperate Plight of the Ottoman Troops.

By Associated Press.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 11.—The Turkish army in the Peninsula of Gallipoli lost 6000 men and 50 officers during the fighting at Bulair, according to an official report issued here today.

Several thousand Turkish soldiers are declared to have fallen in a battle before the Tchatalja lines, Feb. 9, and thousands more were killed at Charkeul.

Today's report says: "The Bulgarian army, having repulsed several Turkish attacks along the Tchatalja lines, except on the extreme right flank, where it was exposed to the convergent fire from the Turkish warships, in the Sea of Marmora and the Gulf of Buyuk Chekmedje, retired to fresh positions five or six miles to the rear. The losses of the Bulgarians were insignificant, while those of the Turks amounted to several thousand men, mainly due to the excellently directed Bulgarian shell fire.

"The Bulgarians are entrenching their positions in front of Bulair. Large bodies of men have been sent out to clear the field of battle of the dead bodies of Turkish soldiers, which number from 5000 to 6000. It is believed that the number of wounded Turks must be more than 12,000.

"The Turkish warships shelled the Bulgarians' left flank all day, but killed only one and slightly wounded another Bulgarian soldier.

"The Turkish troops, which descended upon Charkeul near the port of Rodosto on Saturday and Sunday, were almost surrounded by the Bulgarian army and were compelled to retire hastily to their transports, under the protection of the Turkish warships.

"The Bulgarian infantry on shore kept up a deadly fire on the small boats loaded with Turkish troops, inflicting losses amounting to several thousand men. The Bulgarian losses in the whole affair did not exceed 100 killed and wounded."

SUFFRAGISTS WILL BEGIN MARCH IN COLD AND SNOW

Worst Weather of Winter in East Opens as Hour Comes for Walk to Washington.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Forecast of the much-heralded pilgrimage of snow tonight, on the eve of the start suffragettes from New York to Washington, made it appear that the women who respond to the call will encounter at the outset adverse weather conditions. This section is now experiencing the coldest weather of the winter, and there isn't much prospect of moderation.

Up to today no figures were given as to the number who might muster under the "Votes for Women" banners, when the party gathers at the Hudson terminal downtown here Wednesday morning. "Wait and see," is the advice of "Gen." Rosalie Jones, who will lead the pilgrimage. Whatever the number will be, it is expected the army will gather recruits as it proceeds by easy stages toward the capital.

More than a dozen were out Monday, braving a bitter cold temperature, riding up and down the city on top of auto busses, waving their banners, tooting bugles and stopping here and there to scatter suffragette leafs or address small gatherings.

TWO QUADRANGLE CLUB GIRLS WHO MAY RING YOUR TELEPHONE

MISS MARIE GALLENKAMP MISS HARRIET NEWMAN.

PRETTY DAUGHTER OF SUN OF O'GUN MAY CALL YOU UP

You needn't be surprised Wednesday afternoon if a young woman, whose voice you never heard before, calls you by telephone and inquiries whether you are going to see "Sun of O'Gun" at the Odeon the following night. Several hundred St. Louisans are going to get such a call, and you may be one of them.

Ten of the prettiest girls in the Quadrangle Club of Washington University, which is to present the play, will do the calling. They have divided one of the telephone directories into 10 sections, and each girl will call as many names as possible from the section allotted to her.

At 2 p. m. each girl will go to a telephone in one of the fraternity or sorority rooms, in company with a chaperon, and then the fun will begin. The call will be something like this:

"Hello. This is Miss —— of Washington University. Are you coming to see 'Sun of O'Gun' tomorrow night? Yes, we want you very much. Please come. Good-by."

A prize will be given to the young woman who gets through her section of the phone book first. Among the girls who will take part in the novel sending of personal invitations are Misses Marie Gallenkamp, Harriet Newman, Marguerite Neuman, Marguerite Pierce and Julia Larson.

STABBED BY HIS WIFE WITH HATPIN, HAS 2-INCH WOUND

Elmer Boode, 22 years old, of 3116 Cherokee street, is at the city hospital with a wound two inches deep in his right shoulder. He says his wife did it with a hatpin.

Boode at 8 a. m. Tuesday ran into Neumann's saloon at Minnesota avenue and Cherokee street and told the bartender he had been shot. Stains on his clothing showed he had been wounded.

While the bartender was notifying the police Boode left the saloon. A few minutes later Patrolman Manion found him leaning against a telegraph pole.

Boode repeated his statement that he had been shot. He was rushed to the city hospital. There he told of his wife stabbing him with a hatpin. He said they were not quarreling and that his wife did not mean to hurt him. He told the police he would not prosecute her.

Boode's mother told a Post-Dispatch reporter her daughter-in-law stuck the hatpin into him in a quarrel over her right to take money from his trousers' pocket.

U. S. PROSECUTION OF CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE ORDERED

Enforcement of Call Price Between Trading Days Called Sherman Law Violation.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Prosecutions of the Chicago Board of Trade for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in fixing the price of foodstuffs, has been ordered by Attorney-General Wickersham, according to the Tribune today. It is said the proceedings will be instituted in a bill in equity to be filed in the Federal District Court today or tomorrow.

The big grain exchange is to be arraigned for fixing what is known as the "call price" of grain each day at the close of trading. Under a rule of the board which had been in existence for many years, no broker is permitted to deal in grain at any but the "call" price from the closing of the exchange one day until the opening of trading the next day.

Price Fixed for 21 Hours.

The result of this rule is the fixing of the price of grain during a period of about twenty-one hours each day.

Only during about three hours of trading is the price subject to fluctuations. The penalty for violation of this rule by any broker is suspension from the privilege of the board or expulsion. The consequence of this is that violations are few.

The Government's contention will be that the naming of a call price to govern deals in grain for 21 hours each day, suppresses the natural competition that otherwise would exist and results in an artificial inflation of the cost of foodstuffs to the consumer.

Like Butter Prosecution.

It is said the principle of the proceedings is the same as that of the Government against the Chicago Butter and Egg Board to compel that organization to cease fixing the prices on these commodities through a Quotation Committee.

The bill is said to have been prepared by United States District Attorney Wilkerson several months ago and submitted to the Attorney-General who gave it his approval.

Gunboat Rammed by Tug.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 11.—The gunboat Vicksburg, which was rammed and almost sunk at the Puget Sound Navy Yard by the naval tug Fortune, will be placed in dry dock. The steel prow of the tug cut a gash 15 feet long and more than a foot wide in the Vicksburg's starboard quarter.

HOUSE HUMORIST'S STORY STARTS ROW, HE TAKES IT BACK

Fitch of Peoria, Assailed in Illinois House Because of Newspaper Article, Apologizes.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 11.—The first ballot for United States Senator on the Senate side of the Legislature this afternoon resulted as follows: Sherman, Republican, 24; Lewis, Democrat, 24; Funk, Progressive, 2. The House was delayed in balloting by long nomination speeches.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 11.—Arising to a point of personal privilege, Representative David E. Shanahan of Chicago today delivered a sensational attack upon Representative George Fitch of Peoria.

Fitch is a writer of humorous stories, and his production printed in the Chicago paper was supposed to be exceptionally funny. But Shanahan could not see it. Instead of provoking laughter, it aroused his wrath.

The House had just adopted a resolution agreeing to vote on the two Federal senatorships at the same time, when Shanahan arose to talk. The speech was made while the House resolution was being sent to the Senate for consideration.

Representative Shanahan began by reading from a Chicago Sunday paper an article he said had been written by Representative Fitch. He next read the House Journal of the date mentioned in the newspaper. He then said:

"I want to say here and now that when Representative Fitch wrote that article, he deliberately lied. And he lied for the purpose of injuring me before the people of the State of Illinois. I am reliably informed that he was paid for this article, and that he is being paid to ridicule certain members of this General Assembly."

Shakes Fist at Fitch.

Representative Shanahan had spoken with great feeling, once shaking his fist at Fitch. When he had concluded, Mr. Fitch declared that he had not criticised the members of the House with any malice, and insisted that the article in question had been written merely as humorous. He declared that if he had offended any individual members he was willing to make due apologies, but that he did not think any member would take the matter seriously.

"I have no desire," said Representative Fitch, "to indulge in personalities, either here or in my writings, and as some seem to have taken offense, I shall refrain in the future from touching upon the personalities and characteristics of members."

When Representative Fitch had concluded his apology, Representative Shanahan again arose.

"The member admits," said Representative Shanahan, "that he did not consult the records of the House to find out what was done on Monday. Also he admits that he was not here on that day. The proper thing for a gentleman to do under these conditions is to retract in the same manner in which he wrote the article."

Representative Fitch then arose and said:

"It will be a great pleasure for me to make a proper retraction and I will do so."

L. Y. Sherman, Republican; J. Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, primary nominees of their parties, and Frank H. Funk, Progressive, and Barney Berlyn, Socialist, the caucus nominee of those parties, then were formally nominated for Senator for the six-year term in the separate houses.

At the Democratic caucus last night Charles Boeschenstein of Edwardsville was nominated for the short term.

A string was attached to the Boeschenstein nomination in the form of a declaration that the instructions should be disregarded until Col. Lewis is elected.

Gov. Dunne today made public a letter from Senator Gore of Oklahoma, which gave Gov. Wilson's views on the senatorship:

"It might not be without interest for you to know the intense solicitude with which Gov. Wilson views the senatorial situation," wrote Senator Gore to Gov. Dunne. "I, therefore, take the liberty of quoting the following from a letter, which I recently received from him.

"'It is of the utmost consequence that I should do everything honorable and possible to secure the Democratic representation in the Senate from those states (electing Senators). I wish my friends in those states to know as directly as possible of my deep interest and of my concern that no efforts should be omitted which would result in our honorable triumph. I know that you and our other alert friends in the Senate and House will keep this matter very much in mind.'"

Goes to Get Wife's Message; Killed. LAMONT, Ill., Feb. 11.—Michael Leskow was killed by a Chicago & Alton train as he was crossing the tracks to the telegraph office. Five minutes later the operator received a message from New York for Leskow stating his wife had landed from Europe and would start at once to join him.

Danger of Indigestion

Innumerable diseases are primarily due to neglected indigestion. Appendicitis is prevalent today because of so much neglect or ignorance. The use of pepsin and dyspepsia medicines are only temporary in their effects. To prevent dangerous diseases and restore the system to normal, a scientific treatment called triopeptine tablets are essential. It consists of three distinct formulas—one morning, one noon and one night. This treatment assists digestion and acts in a curative capacity which usually restores the action of nature. Well stocked pharmacies sell triopeptine to physicians and the laity in sealed packages. ADV.

VOTERS' LEAGUE WILL INVESTIGATE SPRING CANDIDATES

Object Is to Get Honest and Efficient Men Nominated and Elected to Office.

With the object of getting honest and efficient men nominated and elected to all city offices in St. Louis, the Municipal Voters' League has resumed activities, under the presidency of Walter W. Birge, vice-president of the Seymour Manufacturing Co., and a former member of the House of Delegates. The League came into existence four years ago, and made a report on the fitness of all candidates running for ofice in the election of April, 1909.

With the enactment of the municipal primary law, President Birge said he expected not less than 400 candidates would aspire for nomination on the Democratic, Republican and Progressive tickets. The great number of candidates will be confusing to the people who have to vote upon them at the primaries, and will make the work of the League exceedingly difficult, he said.

"The first work of the League will be to investigate the record of all candidates of all parties," said Birge to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "When these investigations have been completed, a report will be issued to the public with recommendations. We shall try to recommend to the favor of the voters the most capable and desirable men of each party.

Hard Task for League.

"The task is going to be a hard one. If there is only one candidate of each party for the House of Delegates, there will be 84 candidates in all before the people. We expect not less than three candidates from each party will aspire to these nominations. There will be from 12 to 15 candidates for Mayor, with numerous candidates for the other offices.

"There probably will be not less than 200 candidates up for the consideration of every voter in each ward. As the primary election is important, it being essential that good men be nominated for all offices by each of the three parties, our organization is going to have hard work.

"If good nominations are made at the primaries it will not make much difference who is elected at the April election. The league will make investigations of the candidates nominated and report on them before the April election."

Civic Sunday a Feature.

Birge added that the league is working with the Federation of Men's Clubs and other organizations interested in good government for St. Louis, and is getting members in every section of the city. It has urged the party committees to use their best efforts to nominate tickets of good, efficient men, having a substantial interest in the welfare of the city.

"Some time between the primary and the election we are going to have a big mass meeting in the Odeon, and also a civic Sunday," he continued. "At the Odeon mass meeting there will be speeches by well-known students of municipal politics. The speakers will urge the voters to exercise great discretion in the election of their municipal officers, and to follow the recommendations of the Municipal Voters' League where they have not been able to familiarize themselves with the record and standing of the candidates."

Comparatively few candidates are now in the field, but many announcements are expected to follow the passage of the municipal primary bill. The League has started its investigations of the candidates who have announced.

IMPRISONED IN CUPOLA BY GASOLINE EXPLOSION

William Burr, an electrician, of 421 South Euclid avenue, was imprisoned in a cupola above the two-story garage of Winfield Russell of 4530 Forest Park boulevard, Tuesday morning, when an explosion of gasoline enveloped the building in flame and smoke.

Burr groped his way through the fire down a ladder, and when he reached the second floor, and found the stairway leading below shut off by flames, he opened a door and jumped into the alley, 15 feet below.

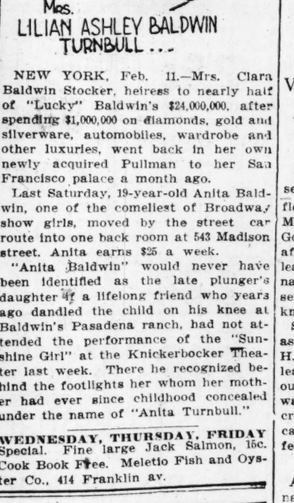

The building was formerly occupied as a stable, and had just been remodeled for use as a garage. Burr was installing electric wires in the cupola when the fire occurred.

The police did not learn what caused the explosion. The gasoline was stored in a huge tank on the ground floor. Burr was not injured. Damage to the building was $800.

ANITA BALDWIN (TURNBULL)

Mrs. LILIAN ASHLEY BALDWIN TURNBULL

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker, heiress to nearly half of "Lucky" Baldwin's $24,000,000, after spending $1,000,000 on diamonds, gold and silverware, automobiles, wardrobe and other luxuries, went back in her own newly acquired Pullman to her San Francisco palace a month ago.

Last Saturday, 19-year-old Anita Baldwin, one of the comeliest of Broadway show girls, moved by the street car route into one back room at 543 Madison street. Anita earns $25 a week.

"Anita Baldwin" would never have been identified as the late plunger's daughter by a lifelong friend who years ago dandled the child on his knee at Baldwin's Pasadena ranch, had not attended the performance of the "Sunshine Girl" at the Knickerbocker Theater last week. There he recognized behind the footlights her whom her mother had ever since childhood concealed under the name of "Anita Turnbull."

CHURCH FLOOR HAD FEW JOISTS, FINDS CHIEF SWINGLEY

Vestibule Where 11 Women Were Injured Not Properly Supported, He Says.

One woman was seriously injured and several were hurt when the concrete floor of the vestibule in the Cabanne Methodist Church, South, Bartmer and Goodfellow avenues, collapsed Monday afternoon while a funeral party was leaving the church. Mrs. Maud Brennan of 3846 Cook avenue was the most seriously injured. Her right hip, right knee and right ankle were broken.

Several women stood in the vestibule as the funeral cortege of Mrs. Mary H. Leitch of 1277 Goodfellow avenue was leaving. The coffin had been carried outside, and the family had reached the waiting carriages. Suddenly the floor crumbled and fell into the basement, carrying the women to the floor, eight feet below.

Ten Others Injured.

Among the injured besides Mrs. Brennan were: Mrs. C. W. Hamilton, 4122 Cook avenue; Mrs. Charles E. Swingley, 3890 Washington boulevard; Mrs. William Lefferty, 5112 Kensington avenue; Mrs. E. C. Horner, 6131 McPherson avenue; Mrs. S. E. Weybright, 5991 Romaine place; Mrs. J. M. Meyers, 1230 Shawmut place; Miss Anna Childress, 4717 Page boulevard; Mrs. John Carruthers, 3821 Cook avenue; Mrs. R. A. Rice and her daughter, Esther, 2907 Barrett street.

Swingley Finds No Supports.

Chief Swingley made an investigation and found, he stated, that he could find no supports beneath the concrete and said that it was not properly reinforced with rods.

The Rev. Theodore Copeland, pastor of the church, told a Post-Dispatch reporter two weeks ago the church was repaired and it was declared safe by the contractor after a general inspection was made.

MAN WHIRLED AROUND 20 TIMES ON A WHEEL

His Sleeve Catches on Bolt and He Is Finally Tossed to One Side, Injured Seriously.

When the sleeve of his jumper caught in a bolt on a wheel in the annealing room of the St. Louis Malleable Iron Co. plant at 7700 North Broadway, Monday evening, George Kreares, 24 years old, was whirled around.

The sleeve held until his body made perhaps 20 revolutions. Then he was thrown senseless to one side.

Dr. George F. Chopin of 8111 North Broadway gave Kreares temporary treatment and sent him to the Mullanphy Hospital. Kreares suffered lacerations of the body and internal injuries. He lives at 8434 North Broadway.

If you have a message that is worth while—something to buy or sell—or if you seek employment or workers, Post-Dispatch Wants are at your service.

CHALLENGER SAYS HE HELPED COUNT GILL-DYER VOTES

Watchers Also Handled Ballots, He Testifies, and There Were Other Irregularities.

Additional illegalities at various polling places in the November election were disclosed Tuesday, the last day for taking testimony for M. J. Gill in the Gill-Dyer contest for the Twelfth District congressional seat. It was shown that challengers and watchers handled the ballots in one precinct and that illiterate voters were not sworn as the law requires.

Christopher J. Carroll of 1229 North Thirteenth street, who voted in the Eighth Precinct of the Fifth Ward, at 1310 Carr street, said that he scratched the name of Gill, but not that of Dickmann. His ballot was found on the recount to have been scratched very lightly on Gill and very heavily on other candidates.

William Wehrle of 1307 Franklin avenue, who was Progressive challenger in the Sixteenth precinct of the Fifth Ward, on Morgan street, between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets, testified that he counted the Progressive ballots and that all the watchers helped to straighten out the ballots preliminary to the count.

W. J. Hahn, 1404 Wash street, Republican clerk in the same precinct, testified that Oscar H. Goeke, Democratic clerk, made out a ballot for an illiterate. Under the law no one but a judge can do this. He also testified that no oath was administered to illiterates.

John Ellsperman Jr., attorney for Gill, tried to get Hahn to testify from the poll book made up by himself, which lay before him, how many names of voters he recorded.

After his attention had been called to the fact that the last name on the book was numbered 242, Hahn was asked what that indicated to him and answered: "I couldn't tell you." He was shown that the heading over the column was "number of ballots," and was asked what the number 242 in connection with the heading, meant, and he said he had not the least idea. He was unable to say whether he had signed the certificate before or after the ballots were counted.

Large greenhouses have been built and thousands of plants and shrubs are being prepared to add to the beauty of the property next summer. The officers of the company are: President, C. B. Sims; vice-presidents, C. S. Marsh and R. B. Puckett; secretary, Malcolm E. Harring.

ROBBER GOT GEMS WHILE FAMILY WAS AT SUPPER

Home of F. H. Pierce Entered by Burglar Who Took $400 in Jewels.

Clambering up an iron post, a second-story worker found an insecure window and gained entrance to the home of Franklin R. Pierce, 5545 Bartmer avenue, between 7:15 and 7:30 p. m. Monday, while the family was at supper. He opened three windows to facilitate escape and then proceeded on a search for loot.

He got $40 and jewels worth $400, among them a solitaire diamond ring, a gold watch set with sapphires and diamonds and other jewelry. He overlooked jewelry valued at $1400.

The noise made by the thief walking about was heard by Mrs. Pierce. She called to her maid, thinking she was upstairs. There was no response, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierce investigated. The Burglar left as he had entered, unseen.

Exclusive Modes in Tailored Suits at $19.13, $24.75, $29.75, $35 and up to $69.50

$19.13

WE are specializing this year on Tailor-Made Suits at $19.13. This was a Sonnenfeld innovation last year, offering Suits at a price even with the year, and we scored a decided success, because we had made unusual preparations.

For 1913 we have planned still greater achievements, and although the price has advanced but 1c, there is a marked advance in the cleverness of the styles and in the intrinsic value of each garment.

We are offering at this moderate price models that are replicas of garments selling at from two to four times the figure. Many of them are exclusive imported models and are made expressly for us by the leading manufacturers..... $19.13

A marked advantage in this connection is our ability to give the manufacturers orders extremely early, permitting them to plan styles that will be acceptable to us for the $19.13 line.

Our specifications are very exacting—we demand high-grade materials, better linings and the best workmanship. The result is that these $19.13 Suits possess all the elements of style and quality that you will find in much higher-priced Suits..... $19.13

We are showing splendid models in Bedford cords, wide and narrow wales, eponge, wool crashes, men's wear serges, worstesds, in checks and stripes and imported mixtures, and there is a complete range of sizes for women and misses.

VOICELESS MAYOR WITH SIGNS TELLS HIS APPOINTMENTS

Wife Reads Lip Movements, Transmits Selections of Lambert, Critically Ill.

Speechless from tonsilitis, and too weak to write, Mayor Lambert of East St. Louis made known through lip movements, read by his wife, the names of the men whom he appointed to the city comptrollership and the three vacant fire and police commissionerships.

The names, first audibly pronounced by Mrs. Lambert to Joseph M. Haider, the Mayor's secretary, were taken by Haider to the Council Monday afternoon, and the Council confirmed the appointments.

Those appointed were: Comptroller (and Commissioner of Public Works), William R. Rodenberger; Fire and Police Commissioners, George Roe, John Shannon and Edward F. Schwartz.

Rodenberger was Assistant Comptroller under John J. Faulkner, who resigned Feb. 1. Roe is a coffee salesman, Shannon an assistant foreman for the L. & N. Railroad, and Schwartz is one of the proprietors of an express company. The commissioners get $75 a month and the Comptroller $2500 a year.

Mayor Lambert is suffering from an acute attack of tonsilitis, and for five days has been unable to swallow either solid or liquod food. The City Council has been demanding that a Police Board be appointed and has threatened to refer certain pending fire and police business to the old board, on the theory that the old board holds office until the new one is appointed. The old board resigned Dec. 27.

So Lambert, through his wife, telephoned to Secretary Haider Monday afternoon, and the silent interview at the Mayor's home followed. Lambert attempted to speak, but the secretary was unable to understand him, and Mrs. Lambert, watching her husband's lips, gave Haider the message.

Mayor Lambert's illness is believed to have been due to exposure at the Elks' Building fire two weeks and a half ago. His condition is considered serious by his physician.

QUITS JOB, NURSES WIFE; CAN'T GET IT BACK, KILLS SELF

Salesman Unable to Celebrate as Usual, Takes Acid on Wedding Anniversary.

Philip Heringer, aged 40, gave up his job as a meat salesman at Union Market, in December, to nurse his sick wife, Freda, who had been operated upon at the city hospital. For two months he was constantly at her bedside in their home at 1412 Dillon street.

The approach of their fifteenth wedding anniversary, which fell on Monday, found practically all of his resources exhausted. Instead of celebrating the anniversary in the usual way he went out to look for employment, but found none.

He did not return until 1:30 a. m. Tuesday. His wife heard him go to the kitchen and rattle some of the utensils. She called him, but he did not answer. She left her sick bed, went to the kitchen and there found him sitting in a chair, with an empty carbolic acid bottle on the table.

She called his brother Gus, and he ran a block to the city hospital for an ambulance, while Mrs. Heringer tried to force emetics down her husband's throat. When the ambulance came Gus Heringer carried his brother to it. Philip died on the way to the hospital.

BOY BANDITS STARVING

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 11.—Hunger caused Norman Williams, 16, and George Van Wagoner, 17, to rob B. E. Lloyd, a shoemaker, in his shop here. The boys told the police they had tried for two weeks to obtain employment, but without success.

Armed with an old pistol they forced Lloyd to hold up his hands while they robbed his cash box. They were arrested in a restaurant only a few doors away.

RIOTERS TRY TO BLOW UP TRAIN IN WEST VIRGINIA

Skirmishers Discover 70 Sticks of Explosive in Time to Save Load of Troops.

By Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 11.—A plot to blow up a troop train carrying hundreds of State troops into the coal-strike districts was discovered just in time to avoid disaster today by skirmishers sent out ahead of the train, who found 70 sticks of dynamite, capped and fused and placed at regular intervals along the track.

The skirmishers clashed soon after the start with a body of armed rioters stationed in underbrush, and, without firing a shot, captured 19 of them, including J. F. Parsons, Socialist candidate for the Legislature from Kanawha County and long known as a leader among the miners in the Cabin Creek country.

Bullets rained until daylight on Mucklow and Standard, said reports from those towns.

The mountains surrounding them still are filled with armed men, but the force of deputy sheriffs and mine guards at these places was so small that no move could be made to dislodge the attacking parties.

For the third time in the history of West Virginia martial law is in effect. Portions of four counties today are in control of the State militia following a battle yesterday between the striking miners of the Kanawha coal fields and deputy sheriffs, railroad officers and mine guards.

In a clash near Mucklow 16 persons were killed and probably two score injured. Twelve of the dead were miners and four were State officers.

Five companies of State militia ordered last night by the Governor reached the strike zone before midnight. A sixth company was on the way due to reach the troubled district some time this morning.

Adjutant-General Elliott, with a provisional regiment of five companies, moved out from Paint Creek Junction, two being sent to the Cabin Creek district where trouble was expected and three, under command of Major Thomas D. Davis, taking the road to Mucklow. Orders were issued to drive armed men out of the district.

State Constabulary Likely.

One result of the outbreak, it was stated, would be the introduction into the Legislature of a bill providing for a State constabulary to deal with such emergencies, the opinion being that if an adequate force of trained men had been on guard the fighting would not have occurred. This bill was presented to the Military Committee recently and voted down.

Trouble in the mine district began in April, 1912. Since that time the militia twice has invaded the Paint and Cabin Creek districts of Kanawha County. The first time martial law was declared at an end, but within a week afterward the troops were ordered back into the strike territory because of rioting and bloodshed. They were withdrawn gradually, and the second proclamation of martial law never was lifted. Since last Friday almost a condition of anarchy has prevailed at Paint and Cabin Creeks. Passenger trains on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad have been subjected to fire, mine guards shot, and attempts made to apply the torch to the property of the various coal companies in the two districts.

Last Saturday, after a reign of terror in the strike district, Gov. Glasscock prepared to bring the situation before the Legislature. This, however, was not done, and Sunday telegraph wires into the troubled zone were cut, and the mine districts left isolated. It was reported Sunday night that Gov. Glasscock would appear before the Legislature Monday and insist that some action be taken. Before this could be done, a body of miners, marching from the mountains toward Mucklow, was met by a force of mine guards, deputy sheriffs and railroad officers. The two forces opened fire, and the miners drove the officers back. Reinforcements arrived for the officers, but the miners had taken up guerilla warfare, and the authorities steadily retreated. It is said the miners numbered from 3000 to 4000 men, who were concealed in the mountains.

Rapid-Fire Guns Used.

At midnight it was learned that rapid-fire guns of the authorities had killed 12 miners, while only four of the officers were killed. The 40 injured were scattered over a territory of 15 square miles. A number are said to be fatally hurt. It is rumored today 15 miners were killed.

With the Adjutant-General are the members of the military court, who acted during the last two administrations of martial law. The acts of the militia commission in sentencing more than two score persons to long terms in the West Virginia prison recently was questioned in the State Supreme Court and the Supreme Court of the United States. The military court and the martial law declared by governors of states were held to be legal.

DEALERS ORGANIZE TO FIGHT INCREASE IN LUMBER RATES

Commission's Agent to Hear Protests Against Freight Tariff Here March 1.

Hardwood lumber manufacturers, wholesalers and retail dealers in St. Louis, Memphis and other Southern cities have organized to appear before a representative of the Interstate Commerce Commission in St. Louis March 1 and protest against an increase in freight rates which would result in an increase of $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year in St. Louis' lumber bill.

The proposed increase, which the Interstate Commerce Commission has suspended until April 1, is from 1 to 4 cents a hundred pounds on all hardwood lumber from the South to points west of the Mississippi River.

Charles E. Thomas, chairman of the traffic committee of the Lumbermen's Exchange of St. Louis, has employed Attorney Harold R. Small to represent the lumbermen before the commission. Thomas, with Secretary George McBlair, and representatives of the lumbermen's associations of Memphis, Cairo, Alexandria, Pine Bluff and other Southern points, has been in conference with Small for several days getting the case ready for presentation to the commission.

The lumbermen will contend that present rates are too high, and demand a decrease. The principal railroads which have made application with the commission for an increase are the Iron Mountain, Frisco, Cotton Belt and Rock Island.

If the increase in rates is granted it will increase the lumber cost to Western consumers not less than $15,000,000 a year, according to statistics compiled by Secretary McBlair.

"The increase will be so great that the manufacturers and dealers will have to pass it on to the consumers," said McBlair. "That means big increases in the operating expenses of the box factories, lumber factories and other industries using large quantities of hardwood lumber.

"There is such a vast amount of evidence to be presented to the commission against this proposed increase that the taking of testimony probably will not be completed before nine or ten months. The lumbermen likely will ask for further suspension of the rates, pending the final result of the hearing."

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Genearo Ronzio, 50 years old, and her son Jeremiah, were murdered Sunday night, but the crime was not discovered until nearly midnight last night. When neighbors, noticing they were not out of the house, battered down the doors. They had been stabbed to death.

GARDEN SAGE DARKENS GRAY HAIR SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL

The beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. While it is a mussy, tedious task it well repays those whose hair is turning gray, faded and streaked.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and luster of your hair and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody chooses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. It certainly helps folks look years younger and twice as attractive, says a well-known downtown druggist.—ADV.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT

Till This Recipe Was Tried. Cure Followed in 5 Hours.

A prominent medical man, who suffered with a severe cough and cold on the lungs, often being kept awake all night, and weakened by loss of sleep, finally discovered a simple formula which will cure any cough in five hours by the clock. It is a laxative tonic cough syrup which can be made at home by anyone and the formula is here given for the benefit of those who pass sleepless nights in painful paroxisms. Those who have tried it say it is magical, and beats any high-priced, slow-acting cough medicine ever sold.

Mix in a bottle one-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day. Give children less according to age. This will tone up and rid the system of deep-seated coughs every time. The above product is manufactured by the Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, O.

DRINKS ACID WHEN $60 BILL IS NOT PAID HER

When a barber at 517 De Baliviere avenue, refused to pay Miss Lula Redmon $60, Tuesday morning, she drained the contents of a bottle marked poison and fell to the sidewalk at De Baliviere avenue and Delmar boulevard. The barber called Patrolman Heffernan of the Page Boulevard Station, and he ordered her sent to the city hospital. There it was found she had taken a weak solution of carbolic acid and that she had not injured herself.

Miss Redmon is 35 years old and lives at 3121 Lucas avenue. She said at the hospital she had known the barber two years and that he owed her $60. Before she went to the barber shop and demanded the money she had purchased the poison from Henry L. Hudson, a druggist, at 5600 Delmar boulevard. She told him she wanted it for the toothache. She is held in the observation ward at the city hospital.

PIANO SALE

Attention! Piano and Player-Piano Buyers

Here Is the Chance of a Life-Time to Buy a Piano

BECAUSE

1—Through our co-operative deal with the City of Bluffton, Indiana, these pianos and player-pianos cost us practically nothing.
2—We sell direct from Factory-to-Home.
3—The first two reasons, together with our immense capital, puts us in a position to give prices, terms and conditions no retail dealer in the city can offer.

Five years ago we built our new piano factory in Bluffton, Indiana, with the understanding that if we paid out $500,000.00 in wages within 5 years the city would give us a donation of enough cash to pay for the complete factory and grounds absolutely free. We have fulfilled our part of the contract and the city has just given us the money for the grounds and factory. However, in order to spend this $500,000.00, we have run our factory practically night and day the last year, as we could afford to do so, and manufactured hundreds of pianos more than our trade demanded, and give the pianos away if need be, in order to receive this factory and ground, valued into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Now that we have all these fine Standard Pianos and Player-Pianos on hand, we must dispose of them, and as they cost us practically nothing, as above explained,

Mr. Arthur J. King, President of the King Piano Company, has issued orders to sell the remaining 400 new co-operative Pianos and Player-Pianos at once, regardless of real value. Therefore, we are throwing this entire stock onto the market tomorrow morning at the most sensational prices, terms and conditions ever known to the piano trade.

ATTENTION— We are not going to mention the names of these fine high-grade, new Upright Pianos and Player-Pianos, as the prices we are offering would ruin our future trade. Nevertheless, they are the finest Pianos and Player-Pianos money can produce and are absolutely guaranteed from 10 to 25 years. Make your selection at once, as they will go like wildfire.

ANCIENT GERMAN FEUD ENDED BY ROYAL BETROTHAL

Kaiser's Daughter, Princess Louise, Formally Pledges Troth With Prince of Cumberland.

ENGLISH HEIR LOSES HER

Kingdom She Is to Rule Is Small One, and Her Fiance Is Not Very Wealthy.

Copyright, 1913, by Press Publishing Co. (New York World.)

CARLSRUHE, Germany, Feb. 11.—Princess Victoria Louise, the only daughter of Emperor William, is to marry Prince Ernest Augustus of Cumberland, lineal heir to the vacant throne of the Duchy of Brunswick and heir to the claimant of the suppressed throne of Hanover.

They were formally betrothed yesterday. Then, amid the clash of joyful bells in the streets of Carlsruhe, the most picturesque city of Northern Germany, the Emperor and the representative of the house of Hanover shook hands, ending a dispute which has lasted since Prussia seized the Kingdom of Hanover, in 1866, because it sided with Austria in the war.

Over and over again reconciliation has been prophecied, but as often denied. Now Princess Victoria Louise herself, apparently, has settled not only the destiny of the Duchy of Brunswick, but also her own future.

Kaiser's Visit a Surprise.

Everybody was taken by surprise when Emperor William, who had an engagement to be present at a state function in Berlin yesterday, suddenly started for Carlsruhe in a special train, taking with him the Empress, who is still in poor health, Princess Victoria Louise and Prince Oscar, his fifth son.

The people of Carlsruhe refused to believe that he had arrived when the newspapers announced the fact in extra editions, thinking it was another Strasburg hoax. But when first Prince Max of Baden and then Prince Ernest of Cumberland arrived in special trains, and it was announced that the present Regent of the Duchy of Brunswick (Duke John Albert of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, an uncle of the Crown Princess) would arrive Thursday, doubt gave way to certainty and the joy bells rang out a welcome to the Emperor.

Formal reconciliation between the houses of Hohenzollern and Hanover and the betrothal of Princess Victoria Louise to Prince Ernest Augustus took place at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

To Reign Over Small Kingdom.

The Duchy of Brunswick is not very wealthy, but Prince Ernest will be well-to-do and Princess Victoria Louise will have not only a big dot from the Emperor, but a big allowance as Princess Royal of Prussia.

She will reign over a small kingdom. as the population of the duchy is only half a million, and the area is 1418 square miles, or twice the size of New Jersey.

The Princess has gratified her mother's wish that she would not marry out of Germany. The Prince of Wales, often reported to have been a candidate for her hand, must look for another royal bride.

The Princess was 20 years old last September, and Prince Ernest is 24.

WIFE AND GIRL DIDN'T QUARREL WITH HUSBAND

Lunsmann Says Women Who Took Acid Had Differences Between Themselves.

John Lunsmann of 1531 North Seventh street denied Tuesday that a quarrel with him over money caused his wife and his daughter, Annie, to attempt to end their lives with carbolic acid.

He and his wife were on good terms, he says, but Mrs. Lunsmann and Annie had quarreled at intervals for several days. They took the acid as a culmination of this quarrel, he says. Physicians say both women will recover.

The statement that differences with Lunsmann about money caused the trouble was contained in a report made by policemen of the North Market Street District.

Auto Bandit Confesses.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Claude (Jack) Rose, arrested as a suspect several days ago, confessed he was a member of the auto bandits' gang which until recently terrorized Chicago. He admitted that he was in the car when Policeman Sticken was shot.

QUIT TALKING ABOUT RHEUMATISM AND GOUT

It's all ridiculous, absurd and preposterous to talk about Rheumatism and Gout when you can get Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout for $7.50. Prescriptions for $7.50. You need not suffer with Rheumatism another day if you will get Trunk's Prescription and use it according to the directions.

It is really a pity and a shame to talk about Rheumatism and Gout, much less suffer with it, when you know you can get rid of it with Trunk's Prescription, beyond any question of doubt. This Prescription does not ruin the stomach, and does not depress the heart; it does not contain any Mercury, Salicylate of Soda, Oil of Wintergreen, Morphine or Opium.

But it does get rid of your Rheumatism. What more do you want? There is nothing that is as good, and it is impossible to get something better. This Prescription is also a very excellent Liver Medicine.

SAFE BLOWN IN STORE WHILE BOSS IS ASLEEP THERE

Noise Muffled So Well Drug Shop Manager Is Hardly Disturbed; Loss $35.

Yeggmen blew the safe in A. W. Hope's drug store, Hamilton avenue and Suburban tracks, Tuesday, and made so little noise about it that Grover Finley, manager, who was sleeping in the rear of the store, was not thoroughly awakened. He heard something about 1 a. m., but was not sufficiently aroused to get up.

Although the safe door was blown out, presumably with nitroglycerin, the glass in a showcase, against which the safe stood, was not broken, and glass jars on the shelves just above were not disturbed. Policemen who examined the place believe the yeggmen muffled the safe with their overcoats before the "shot," and that they fired it when a car was passing to drown the noise.

Robbers Miss Money Can.

The robbers got $35 from the safe and $16 from the cash register. A can on one of the shelves above contained $23.40, which the proprietor had neglected to put in the safe, and the robbers did not find this. On the afternoon before the robbery, the proprietor had deposited in a bank $400 which had been accumulating in the safe, so that the loot represented only casual cash on hand.

The yeggmen's work was discovered when Joseph Larrazolo, a clerk, opened the store shortly before 8. He found that a panel had been chiseled out of the back door, and that the wooden bar which held the door in place had been removed.

Nothing was heard by the occupants of houses closely adjoining the store.

Three weeks ago Finley reported to the police that he was awakened by burglars trying to enter the store, and that he watched them at work for a few minutes, then started out to call a policeman, but that they heard him and fled.

MORSE SOON TO BE HOME

Pardoned Banker Is in Genoa Feeling Very Fit.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Charles W. Morse, the former banker and ice king, whose sentence for violation of the banking laws was commuted by President Taft, will be back in New York about the middle of March. He left Florence, Italy, Monday for Genoa, feeling "very fit," and from Genoa he will go to Paris for a short stay.

Reports that he is seeking foreign capital for some of his American enterprises are denied and it is said he is traveling only for his health.

ERROR NULLIFIES DRY STATES' LIQUOR VICTORY IN SENATE

Lid Measure on Interstate Shipments Has Only Slight Chance in This Congress.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Supporters of the Webb bill to prevent shipments of intoxicating liquors into "dry" states, elated by the passage of the bill in the Senate yesterday, in place of the Sheppard-Kenyon bill, found today that through a parliamentary error their long fight probably has been a futile one, so far as this session is concerned.

The bill as passed by the Senate was identical in its provisions with the House measure, but when it was substituted for the Kenyon-Sheppard bill in the Senate the number of the Senate bill was allowed to remain on the passed bill.

This, according to House Parliamentarian Crisp, makes the measure an entirely new one, so far as the House is concerned and it will have to go to the Judiciary Committee and take its regular place on the calendar.

The bill would prohibit the shipment of intoxicating liquors from one State to another when intended to be received or sold in violation of the law of the State to which the shipment is made.

Recovered From Severe Lung Trouble

"While we all know that plenty of fresh air and good food are necessary to persons suffering from lung trouble, something more is needed to bring about full health. Eckman's Alterative is a medicine for throat and lung troubles, and so many reports have been received showing that it brought about good results in a number of cases which were declared hopeless, that all sufferers who are not benefiting otherwise should at least investigate what it has done for others. It may be the means of restoring you to health. Investigate this case:

Madison Lake, Minn.

"Gentlemen: In December, 1908, and March, 1909, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs which confined me several weeks, each time to my bed. These left me very weak and I coughed at nights and could not sleep. My appetite also failed me. My doctor advised me to go West. So, in September, 1909, I planned to go, but I had four more hemorrhages, which put me in bed for three weeks.

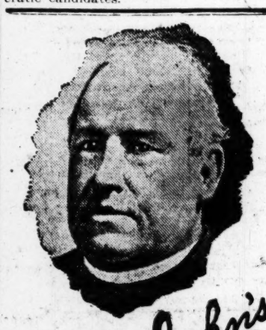

"In November I started for Denver, Colo. After my arrival I met Michael Brody, who, upon learning of my condition, urged me to take Eckman's Alterative. In about two months I began to feel better. I kept on taking the medicine and improved fast. In March, 1910, I returned home. I think I am entirely well, have a good appetite and sleep well. When I left Denver my weight was 130 pounds. I now weigh 165, my normal weight. I thank God and your Alterative for my health. If I can help any other person suffering from Tuberculosis, I will gladly do so."

PAUL L. FASNACHT.

(Sworn Affidavit)

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Rabotean Drug Co., Wolf-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co. and leading druggists. ## KOELN, OUT TO HOLD JOB, WILL LEAVE CITY COMMITTEE

Feeling Criticism Against Central Republican Body, Will Resign Tonight.

KIEL IN LEAD FOR MAYOR

Stifel and Howe Faction Now Grooming H. S. Caulfield as Its Candidate.

City Collector Edmond Koeln will resign as a member of the Republican City Committee at its meeting Tuesday night. Koeln told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he would be a candidate for renomination and thought it better to retire as a member of the committee.

The Republican City Committee has been criticised because so many of its members are holding elective or appointive jobs, or running for them. Henry W. Kiel, former chairman of the committee, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor. Koeln is treasurer of the committee, and has been a member of its Executive Board for many years. He was a member of the committee when he was elected Collector four years ago.

Peter Anderson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, is a member of the committee, and probably will be a candidate for re-election. Nicholas Polito, another member of the committee, is a probable candidate for City Register.

There has been much bickering in the Republican City Committee during the past few weeks. The organization is now split into three factions. One faction is supporting the candidacy of Kiel for Mayor, another is trying to get Judge Wilson A. Taylor into the race and a third faction is industriously seeking a candidate to pit against Kiel for the Mayoralty nomination.

As matters now stand Kiel seems to have the lead in the mayoralty race. Jeptha D. Howe and Otto F. Stifel have been busy trying to get a candidate who can beat Kiel. Last week they brought forward the name of Christopher W. Johnson, member of the Board of Education.

At a secret caucus at the Planters Hotel Howe and Stifel and nine members of the committee who were backing the Johnson movement, later decided to drop him and try to persuade former Judge Henry S. Caulfield to enter the contest.

Seek Judicial Talent.

Some of the committeemen have not given up hope of getting the consent of either Judge Caulfield or former Supreme Judge Franklin Ferriss to make the race. While the opposing factions are busy trying to find a candidate, Kiel has been organizing his forces, and his friends say he has his campaign in good shape. Almost one-half of the committeemen are supporting him, and this will give him an advantage over any other candidate, unless a candidate can be found upon whom the two factions opposed to Kiel can unite.

The fight between Stifel, who has been the Republican dictator since Jeptha D. Howe retired as boss after the Kreismann election, and Kiel, promises to be one of the most interesting side-lights of the municipal campaign. Stifel contends that Kiel is not the logical candidate, while Kiel's friends declare that Stifel's hostility is based largely upon a personal and business friendship for Saunders Norvell, one of the Democratic candidates.

POSTMASTER WHO WOULD NOT AID TAFT, DISCHARGED

Arkansan, Who Says He Was Compelled to Resign, Tells of Assessment.

ASKED TO GIVE $39

Wrote to Hitchcock, He Testifies, and Received Demand From Washington to Quit.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—With the examination of Postmaster Thomas J. Camp of Beebe, Ark., the Senate Campaign Funds Committee today launched into an inquiry of the campaign of 1912. Camp was the first witness interrogated in regard to campaign funds raised or expended between the time of the nominating conventions of last year and the presidential election. Inquiry into this phase of political activity was authorized by a recent resolution of the Senate.

Details of an assessment upon officeholders in Arkansas by the Republican State Committee were described by Camp, who said he recently had been compelled to resign under protest as Postmaster at Beebe, Ark.

Camp produced letters signed by Gordon H. Campbell, treasurer of the Republican State Committee, demanding a contribution of $39. Camp observed that was 3 per cent of his salary, and he did not make the contribution. He sent the first letter to Postmaster-General Hitchcock, he said, asking whether he would be removed if he failed to comply with the request. He received no answer, he said, but in November and December received letters from First Assistant Postmaster-General Grandfield, demanding his resignation.

Reports of Inspectors.

Reports of two inspectors were said by the Postoffice Department to have formed the basis for the demand, but Camp, sending his resignation under protest, declared he had been the victim of a conspiracy. The Postoffice Department charged him with being incompetent, failing to treat the public properly, not employing sufficient help and discharging an employe without cause.

The letters presented to the committee by Camp were all signed in fac-simile of Gorden H. Campbell's handwriting and were in a general form, with the amount and the name of the addressee filled in. On each envelope was the following notice in large type:

"NOTICE—This letter not to be opened in a building occupied by the Government in the transaction of official business."

Asked to Contribute.

One letter dated Sept. 24, 1912, referred to the need for money in the national campaign and said in part:

"You were called on in a previous letter to contribute $39 to the campaign fund. Up to date I have received no remittance. Why should not you have enough hearty patriotism to respond to this call as others in our own party have responded—not only those who are holding office, but those who are NOT holding office, who believe in the principles of the party and who want to see the present administration and our splendid prosperity continued. I trust you will not require me to write you another letter, but will respond at once, so that we can render the necessary aid to the National Committee."

Another letter was also signed with the rubber stamp signature of Campbell, dated Oct. 8, 1912, and said in part:

"I regret exceedingly that you have failed to respond to my urgent and repeated request for financial aid in the present campaign. I hope to receive by return mail your remittance of $39. Please do not compel me to make another call. A Republican reaping the fruits of prosperity, brought about by our party's policies, is to my mind an ingrate when he refuses to aid his party when aid is needed."

Letter Sent to His Wife.

Camp showed letters he had received in 1910 asking him to contribute $33, his salary then being $1200. The letter to him was inclosed in a letter to his wife with the admonition to her not to make the delivery of the letter to the Postmaster "in a building used as a postoffice or other Government office."

Camp did not make that contribution, he said, and told the committee that he had understood from inspectors who had examined his office that affairs were in good shape. Inspector Wynne had told him, he declared, that he could "go into almost any postoffice and rake up enough irregularity to put any Postmaster out of business."

Under questioning by the committee, Camp testified that the inspection of his office had been made before any of the letters were received soliciting his campaign contribution. He could recall no visit of an inspector after he received and failed to answer the campaign funds request.

Gordon H. Campbell was present at the hearing today and will testify tomorrow.

SINGLE PRESIDENTIAL TERM PIGEON-HOLED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Clayton resolution for a constitutional amendment for a six-year, single presidential term effective in 1921, to exempt Taft, Wilson or Roosevelt from its operation, was put over to the next Congress today by the House Judiciary Committee.

This indicates no action will be taken on the Works single-term resolution, already passed by the Senate.

WIFE WHOSE FATHER IS SHOT AS HE LEAVES CAR

MRS. LORETTO SCHENCK LEWIS.

CORONER'S VERDICT CAUSES ARREST OF SPEEDING AUTOIST

Louis Moser of 2213 Grand avenue was arrested in the Coroner's office Tuesday, after a jury had returned a verdict that his criminal carelessness caused the death of Henry Frederick A. Miller of 1805 South Eighteenth street.

Miller died Saturday of injuries received in an automobile accident when a touring car driven by Moser collided with a Tower Grove car at California and Shenandoah avenues on the night of Feb. 1.

Others in the car were J. C. Stevenson, 2815 Victor street; Warren Pollock, 1100 Rutger street, and George Laux. The police report they have been unable to find Laux since the accident.

Christopher Armbruster of 3116A Sidney street testified that he saw the automobile just before the accident and that it was going at least 45 miles an hour. Other witnesses also testified that its speed was excessive.

Moser and his party were on their way home from the residence of James Cross, King's highway and Manchester avenue, when the collision occurred.

After his arrest, following the verdict, Moser was released on bond.

While the inquest was under way Stevenson and Pollock were summoned to appear before the grand jury at 2 p. m.

The charge of carelessness is based on the statements of witnesses that the automobile driven by Moser was exceeding the speed limit when Miller was injured.

BULLETS PIERCE MAN'S HAT; HIS SON-IN-LAW SOUGHT

Man Who Has Tried in Vain to See Estranged Wife Said to Have Run After Shooting.

Policemen looked in St. Louis and in Granite City, Tuesday, for Richard G. Lewis, accused by his father-in-law, F. V. Schenck, of firing the two bullets which pierced Schenck's hat and grazed his scalp, just after Schenck had stepped from a Page car at Washington and Garrison avenues, at 7:20 p. m. Monday.

Schenck told a Post-Dispatch reporter of efforts, which, he says, Lewis has adopted in the effort to get his 20-year-old wife, Schenck's daughter, to return to him. Once, Schenck said, Lewis disguised himself as a woman, and another time as a messenger boy, to gain access to houses where his wife and 3-year-old child, Vivien Lavina, were boarding. These schemes failed because of the wife's unwillingness to talk to him.

Later, Schenck said, the young man advertised for a mother and child, the mother with theatrical experience, to pose for moving pictures. This was calculated to appeal to Mrs. Lewis, who used to do a juvenile song and dance act before her marriage. But she failed to see the advertisement, her father having taken her to Chicago the day before it appeared, to get her out of the husband's way. She and her father have moved 20 times in a year, to keep out of Lewis' way, and have sought top-floor rooms, without transoms, he declared.

Sunday Schenck said, Lewis got into the boarding house at 3924 Washington avenue, and was put out by the landlady and her husband, after the wife had refused to talk to him. Monday evening, coming back from his work, Schenck got off a car at the corner nearest the house, and an instant later felt the two bullets. He says he saw Lewis standing on the sidewalk and pointing a revolver at him, and that he made a motion as if to draw a weapon himself. The young man then ran to an alley and disappeared.

Mrs. Lewis was 15 years old when she eloped with Lewis and married him in 1908. They separated repeatedly, and since their last separation, a year ago, her father has cared for her and the child. Lewis is short and slight, with light hair, and is described by his father-in-law as wearing a blue coat, light trousers and a gray hat. He has been employed in a Granite City rolling mill.

IS THE S. F. E. P. AN EMPTY DREAM?

Our happy conceit of a Seat-for-Each-Passenger has been called a pure dream and an empty idyll. Yet in one way or another the dream has been realized in numerous cities, and great, thriving cities of the world, at that. It is true that most of them are foreign cities, but they have thriving industrial populations like ours. It is true also that most of them have accomplished their transit improvements under the system of municipal ownership.

We are discussing now the fact, the result accomplished, rather than the means, but it may be remarked in passing that municipal ownership is by no means a bogy of which American cities stand in dread. The well-ordered municipal street railways abroad are by no means a horrible example to deter American towns.

On the authority of Mr. Frederic C. Howe, who has made an exhaustive examination of the subject, 42 of the largest cities in Great Britain own and operate their street railways. In Germany 23 of the largest cities do likewise. "These cities," says Mr. Howe in a recent number of The Outlook, "have done with the franchise corporations what the private business men who own them in America say cannot possibly be done."

For the purpose of illustration and enlightenment we quote further:

> There is no overcrowding on street cars, no "Step lively," "Step forward," on these municipal lines. The city thinks that the tired workingman and working girl should be treated at least as humanely as the cattle waiting to be slaughtered in the public abattoirs. Passengers are not packed in to make swollen dividends from strap-hangers. The number of passengers permitted to stand is limited. One rarely has to adopt the alternative of standing, however. The average street railway fare in England is two and one-tenth cents per passenger. In Germany it is a trifle more.
>
> Cities like Glasgow, Manchester, Liverpool, Dusseldorf, Frankfort, use these agencies as part of city planning, as the city's circulatory organs. The tracks are extended out into the country to cheapen rents and secure healthy living environments. Cars are comfortable and clean.

There is no dream about that. Will our street railway corporations resist progress until they drive American cities generally to the experiment of municipal ownership?

The Public Service Commission has joined the S. F. E. P. League, with a demand for 350 more street cars during rush hours.

THE LACLEDE GAS COMPANY'S THRIFT.

The Laclede Gas Light Co. commends itself to the good will of citizens in announcing that it is going into the manufacture of various coke by-products, with the idea of eventually further reducing the rate of gas to consumers.

This is in accordance with the policy which the new management has repeatedly announced of giving the public the benefit of the lowest rates compatible with good business and justice to its shareholders. We can assure the management that it will be good business to give the public a fair share of the benefit of its thrift.

The bill introduced by Representative McCarthy in the State Legislature to prohibit any person under 18 from driving an automobile, should be passed. Automobilists favor it, and a poll of pedestrians would undoubtedly show unanimous demand for it.

SAFE CHURCH EDIFICES.

The collapse of a weakened concrete floor in a West End church threw more than a dozen persons into the basement, several elderly men and women being seriously injured. The accident is said to be due to dry rot in the supports of the floor. Had it taken place after some crowded church service of unusual interest, rather than after a funeral, the results might have been appalling. Are there other churches in any part of the city, especially among the older structures of the sort, that have weakened floors?

The element of absolute safety in churches as well as theaters, film shows, lodges, all other places in which people collect in large numbers, should not be left to chance. Precaution against the repetition of this accident on a larger scale must not be neglected.

HOME RULE EVASION.

If St. Louis should adopt a charter providing for the control of police, excise and elections, the city would be powerless to put it into effect until the Legislature shall have passed an enabling act. The city would have to wait until the next session of the Legislature and seek from a new body the power to utilize its charter provision. It would have to repeat its laborious campaign.

Logically, the first step is the enabling act from the Legislature, under which St. Louis can adopt and act upon a new charter framed in accordance with it. The permission should be granted in order that the city may act upon a certainty. The city would be in a somewhat ridiculous situation, if, after adopting a new charter or a charter amendment, providing for the control of police, excise and elections, the Legislature should deny the power.

Those who are seeking obstacles to home rule and pretexts for delay are opposed to home rule. They are evading the issue and are counseling the Democratic majority to evade the clear promises made by the party convention and the party candidates before the election.

Both parties are pledged to give St. Louis home rule, but the responsibility for carrying out the pledge rests upon the party in power. No excuses nor pretexts will save the Democratic party from just condemnation should it be faithless to its promises and its principles. The loss of St. Louis would be the first stroke.

The riotous attacks on Premier Katsura create a suspicion that Tokio has a few suffragettes.

THE SUBWAY AMENDMENT.

By adopting the right kind of a charter St. Louis can probably exercise the power to build a subway and issue bonds for the purpose, which Senator Phillips' resolution proposes to embody in the constitutional amendment.

If a constitutional amendment enabling cities to build and operate public utilities and to issue bonds therefor is to be submitted, it should embrace all cities and all public utilities. The whole subject of municipal ownership and operation should be covered in the amendment.

The reflections President Madero is entertaining as to Felix Diaz, whose life he spared after the Vera Cruz uprising, are said hardly to be suitable for publication.

MUNICIPAL UTILITIES.

The clause in the Public Utility Commission bill forbidding cities to build or operate public utility plants for other than municipal purposes, follows closely the New York law. But the merit of the clause as it is written is not affected by this fact.

In calling it a "joker" the Post-Dispatch, of course, had no idea of questioning the motives of the men responsible for the measure. The word was intended to suggest the practical effect it might have on the power of cities to build, own and operate public utilities.

The willingness of the Senate and House subcommittee to amend the clause proves the excellent disposition of the legislators in charge of the bill.

We believe it would be wise to give the Public Utility Commission power to regulate municipal utilities, to see that they are properly handled and that the people of the cities owning and operating plants get efficient management and fair rates. We believe that the commission should have power to prevent the useless and wasteful duplication of public utility plants. It would be manifestly unjust and unwise for cities to build and operate competitive plants to destroy the property of franchised corporations.

To cover this point the cities should have the power to purchase, on a fair appraisement, and operate or lease existing public utilities. The new Ohio Constitution enables cities to do this, and to issue bonds for the purchase of existing plants.

If the clause which the Post-Dispatch criticized is intended merely to prevent duplication, it is unfortunately worded. In putting it in the power of the commission to restrain cities from useless duplication of plants, it should empower them to take possession of existing plants on fair terms. In such cases the appraisement might be put in the hands of the commission.

The object of the Post-Dispatch is to prevent the possible tying up of cities by a commission which may be opposed to municipal ownership and operation of public utilities, or which may be under the influence of public utility corporations. Cities should have the broadest powers in respect to public utilities consistent with justice to corporations operating under franchise grants.

Suffragette news from London shows that, even with stone-throwing women, practice makes perfect.

ADVENTURE'S LATEST MARTYRS.

The peculiar intensity of the Antarctic blizzards, often accompanied by winds blowing 60 miles an hour and surpassing any weather disturbances common in the Arctic latitudes, has been recorded by many observers. In one of them Capt. Robert F. Scott and his companions perished on the return from a triumphant journey to the pole.

The story of the loss of these brave men is the most tragic that has come from polar regions since 17 of A. W. Greely's party starved at Cape Sabine in 1883-4, only seven, including the commander, being saved. No happening in which British explorers in high latitudes have figured has been as somber since Sir John Franklin and 128 others in the Erebus and Terror disappeared in Baffin's Bay, in 1845, never to reappear and to baffle no less than 39 relief expeditions sent out in subsequent years. Death had already come to Capt. Scott when the last prior news was received from him in April, 1912, and when the world was rejoicing over Capt. Amundsen's brilliant exploit.

The double defeat by a rival explorer and by the elements, the fight for life in the furious storm, the silence of the long Antarctic night during which a message from him was impatiently awaited, the faithful wife in midocean hastening in confidence of victory to welcome him back to civilization, are details in the Scott tragedy by which admirers of gallantry everywhere will be deeply moved. They will be unreconciled to his pathetic death just after accomplishing the supreme achievement to which so many years of life had been devoted.

But while Amundsen was first, the attainment by the two of the long quest was separated by so little in point of time that both will always be associated with the conquest of the South Pole. Scott's name goes into the extended list of courageous martyrs to polar adventure, which includes Balloonist S. A. Andree, G. W. De Long, Charles Hall, in addition to many others in recent times, and which runs back to Henry Hudson, in 1610, after which Hudson River and Hudson's Bay were named.

With both poles discovered, why should further hazards be risked? Amundsen himself is even now contemplating a further perilous adventure.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Judge Ryan's Lecture.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Pressure of business alone has kept me from sooner expressing praise and approbation of the masterful lecture of Judge Ryan in answer to the professor of history of Washington University.

I am sure my feelings were shared by all the true men and women present of whatever nationality. While every word bore the impress of truth, his statements were well supported by the authorities he quoted—friendly, hostile and neutral. Doubtless many like myself had their memories of Ireland's wrongs refreshed, besides learning more about them.

In fairness to Judge Ryan I think the Washington University should request him to repeat the lectures for the special benefit of its students of history who would learn more on the subject than from many days or nights of steady reading.

The writer, as an Irishman, heartily thanks Dr. Boyd for his enthusiastic and eloquent call for a vote of thanks to the lecturer, though he was well repaid by the deafening and soul-stirring "aye" in response to his motion.

"More power" to him and to Judge Ryan is the earnest wish of JOSEPH O'GRADY.

The Coliseum Cycle Track.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Where was McKelvey when the "saucer" was put up at the Coliseum? The public views the "saucer" and finds that it is solidly constructed, but imagine constructing a track for motor cycles and bicycles that looks more like a "chicken roost" that a protection for the riders and the public. If the railing was made out of material such as is used in some parts of the track (2x4s), and some rider skidded off of the track and up against the railing, he would most likely roll down and receive only a few bruises—but they put it up for merely the name—"railing"—not for protection. If it was made solid, when the spill occurred, Windt and Martin would not have taken the "railing" with them in their fall.

I repeat again, where was McKelvey? J. R.

SEAT-FOR-EACH-PASSENGER LEAGUE

No Muzzles for Passengers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Too much praise cannot be given the Post-Dispatch for the aid given the public in the S. F. E. P. movement, for without the publication of our letters in this fearless newspaper, which reaches nearly all of the people, our protests would go unheard. Thank God the S. F. E. P. League came just in time to knock the M. F. L. into a cocked hat. This M. F. L., fostered by an afternoon paper, was a very clever scheme concocted for the purpose of educating the public how they might pack themselves in the cars like sardines.

Were it not for papers like the Post-Dispatch, wherein the public can voice their sentiments, it would be easy for Mr. McCulloch and others to do the same to the public as they are doing to the dogs—muzzle 'em.

A POST-DISPATCH ADMIRER.

How to Get On.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Please inform me through your editorial column what you consider the reason of the United Railways Co. for putting such a large ad in the papers, taking up space that was entirely unnecessary, with a bluff to tell the people how to get on and off their over-crowded cars? I believe the people really need information at times as to how to get on, because it is next to impossible. CITIZEN.

Too Much "Blue Sky."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

In a recent ad the United Railways Co. states that it carried over 350,000,000 passengers last year, and that it has never paid a dividend on its common stock, and has not paid a dividend on the preferred stock since 1910. I think that the public will at once ask why. It is absurd to say that a company which has an absolute monopoly of the carrying of all the people of a city as big as St. Louis can not carry them at a profit. The Public Service Commission says that based on the actual value of their property, the United Railways Co. earns one and a half million dollars annually over 6 per cent. The reason of course, why it doesn't pay dividends is too much water, or as we call it now days, too much blue sky.

The Chicago street car lines pay 55 per cent of their gross earnings to the city and furnish a far better service than we have here, but the United Railways Co. won't even pay its mill tax.

BLARNEY SMITH.

A Gentlemanly Protest.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

During my two days' sojourn in your city I have noted with great surprise and amusement the controversy going on in your paper between a bunch of pinheads and the local street railway company. How an enterprising and up-to-date newspaper can lend itself to the publication of such buncombe and folly is beyond me. It is needless to dwell upon the absurdity of the demands made by those soreheads and it is needless to say that you know that they are absurd and not feasible. These very pinheads, yourself included, would be the first to rebel against an ordinance for cars that have received its quota of seated passengers to pass up the rest on the corners all along the route. Should one of the seated ones alight there would be a dozen to fight for the vacant seat, anxious to get to his or her destination. I know you will say, "let them put on more cars," but where would they put them? If the street car company would put on double the number of cars now in service, not all passengers could be accommodated with a seat, and where it requires now 30 minutes to go a certain distance, it would require about 130 minutes to go the same distance if the streets were choked up with street cars. But why tell you this? You my dear editor, know this as well as I, but the disinterested onlooker realizes that you must have an ax to grind. I dare you to publish this letter, as no doubt you select just those which suit your purpose. Truly yours, R. E. HARLEY.

Chicago, Ill.

About two columns of matter in regard to the wedding were printed in a Marshall daily paper. After enumerating the minute details of the honorable traits of the groom and the remarkable character of the bride, the article concluded by stating that the 'happy couple will start to housekeeping with nothing but the best wishes of their friends.'"—Marshall Progress.

Mrs. Edward Rainey, who lives near Gentry, Mo., has 15 guineas. Beyond this we are not so sure. It is, however, said of these guineas that they all answer to their separate names. It is alleged that when one of them is called the others keep on quietly bugging the planet, not even displaying the curiosity of human beings in what does not concern them.

Passing that interesting place, the traveler is amused to hear the lady of the guineas, advancing with food, calling Matthew, Mark, Luke or John, as the case may be, and seeing the guinea addressed run up to meet her. Whether they will sing separately, or can do responsive chorus work, or if, all sighting a bug, they abide by Mrs. Rainey's decision that it is Brunhilde's bug, or possibly Sappho's, we are not informed. These unusual attributes, we suspect, will be attributed to them only when the story has traveled a little bit more. The difference between 15 guineas and three crows is probably not so great as one would suppose.

THE PLANT IN THE BOTTLE.

From the Indiana Farmer.

One of the very unusual sights at the Rothamstead experiment station, in England, is a fern growing inside a hermetically sealed bottle. In one of his letters, Prof. Alfred Vivian of the Ohio College of Agriculture, who is making a tour of the world, describes this strange occurrence: "Ever since the station started over 73 years ago, they have each year taken samples of soil. These samples are placed in bottles and sealed for future reference. One sample of soil taken 35 years ago was placed in a large bottle. The bottle, which was about two-thirds full, was sealed tight with sealing wax. A short time afterward a little fern started to grow in the bottle, and has been alive and growing ever since. For 35 years it has continued to live and carry on all the life processes, although hermetically sealed in the bottle. What an unusual example that is of the cycle of carbon and oxygen in plant growth! Apparently the fern is thriving perfectly, and may continue to do so for a long time if no accident happens to it."

REINFORCED CONCRETE CAPITOLS.

From the Technical World.

Our Government in the Philippines is erecting new reinforced concrete Capitol Buildings in nearly all the provinces forming the Philippine archipelago. As there are nearly half a hundred of these provinces which correspond in a small way to our states, the magnitude of the undertaking may be easily imagined. When the United States took charge of the islands most of the provincial buildings were found to be in a bad state of repair. Many of them were built decades ago, and, as the material was generally of limestone or hardwood, the process of decay was rapid. Of course, the leading provinces—those that could best afford new provincial homes—undertook new construction before the others. But where the provincial has not been able to meet the expenditures the insular government has stepped in to help out. The buildings are not only constructed to withstand time and the elements, but they are handsomely designed and elaborately equipped. La Laguna, a province near Manila, was one of the first to build a new capitol, and since then many other provinces have followed suit, many of them outdoing La Laguna's building in size and appearance. The result will be to set a new standard of architectural taste for the whole archipelago.

THE REDCOAT TO GO.

From the Pittsburg Dispatch.

England's "redcoats" are to go. The Secretary for War is to deprive Tommy Atkins of his proudest asset. The "thin red line of heroes" may be as heroic but never as picturesque in khaki, in grey or olive drab, all of which are under consideration as substitutes. Already the mere rumor of the intended change has created a consternation in Britain, where a suggestion to dye the red ensign green would be regarded as no more sacrilegious than to change the color of Tommy's coat.

A "Cool" Million.

Finding it stated in a contemporary that "Thomas A. We hope none of our readers will wait to count his before answering.

Benefactor.

Another authority says: "Don't leave your knife and fork on your plate when you send for a second supply;" adding: "This rule is disputed, one critic affirming that the best English usage is directly the contrary. I have before me directions written by Lord Cholmondeley, a leader of fashion in London a generation or two ago, in which he says, 'Be sure never to send your knife and fork when you send your plate to be served a second time.' This was written, it is true, a long time ago, but is it likely that English custom can now be directly reversed? It is not at all easy to place food on a plate already occupied by a knife and fork. The handles of knives and forks are now always loaded, hence they can rest on the table without the blades or tines touching the cloth; one may, with a little skill, hold his knife and fork in his hands without awkwardness."

The sponge—In morning take a gallon stone jar and in this put one scant cup new milk; add level teaspoon salt and one of sugar; scald this with three cups water heated to boiling point. Get a milk thermometer if you wish to have success; reduce temperature to 108 degrees with cold water, then add flour and mix to a good batter, and lastly mix in the "starter." Cover with plate. Put this stone jar into a large kettle of water and keep this water at a temperature of 108 degrees until the sponge rises. It should rise at least an inch and a half. Grease your loaves well on top and set your bread where it will be warm. Use small single granite pans for baking. After the loaves rise, bake in a medium oven one hour and 10 minutes. # THE TRAILER FOR ROOM NO. 8.

BY RICHARD HARDING DAVIS.

Copyright, 1891, by Charles Scribner's Sons. Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

SNIPES, a New York lad of no pedigree and orphaned at that, is the "trailer" for a confidence man. It is his business to follow countrymen who have been plucked or are to be plucked and inform his master if they have dealings with the police. A typical countryman calls at Snipes' master's house and not gaining admission crosses the street to where Snipes is watching.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS.

PART II.

"I CAN'T make the people in that house over there hear me," complained the old man, with the simple confidence that old age has in very young boys. "Do you happen to know if they're at home?"

"Nope," growled Snipes.

"I'm looking for a man named Perceval," said the stranger; "he lives in that house, and I wanter see him on most particular business. It isn't a very pleasing place he lives in, is it—at least," he hurriedly added, as if fearful of giving offense. "It isn't much on the outside? Do you happen to know him?"

Perceval was Alf Wolfe's business name.

"Nope," said the trailer.

"Well, I'm not looking for him," explained the stranger, slowly, "as much as I'm looking for a young man that I kind of suspect is been to see him today; a young man that looks like me, only younger. He has lightish hair and pretty tall and lanky, and carrying a shiny black bag with him. Did you happen to hev noticed him going into that place across the way?"

"Nope," said Snipes.

The old man sighed and nodded his head thoughtfully at Snipes, and puckered up the corners of his mouth, as though he were thinking deeply. He had wonderfully honest blue eyes, and with the white hair hanging around his sunburned face, he looked like an old saint. But the trailer didn't know that; he did know, though, that this man was a different sort from the rest. Still, that was none of his business.

"What is't you want to see him about?" he asked sullenly, while he looked up and down the street and everywhere but at the old man, and rubbed one bare foot slowly over the other.

The old man looked pained, and much to Snipes' surprise, the question brought the tears to his eyes, and his lips trembled. Then he swerved slightly, so that he might have fallen if Snipes had not caught him and helped him across the pavement to a seat on a stoop. Thankey, son," said the stranger; "I'm not as strong as I was, an' the sun's mighty hot, an' these streets of yours smell mighty bad, and I've had a powerful lot of trouble these last few days. But if I could see this man Perceval before my boy does, I know I could fix it, and it would all come out right."

"What do you want to see him about?" repeated the trailer, suspiciously, while he fanned the old man with his hat. Snipes could not have told you why he did this or why this particular old countryman was any different from the many others who came to buy counterfait money and who were thieves at heart as well as in deed.

"I want to see him about my son," said the old man to the little boy. "He's a bad man, whoever he is. This 'ere Percival is a bad man. He sends down his wickedness to the country and tempts weak folks to sin. He teaches 'em ways of evildoing they never heard of, and he's ruined my son with the others—ruined him. I've had nothing to do with the city and its ways; we're strict living, simple folks, and perhaps we've been too strict, or Abraham wouldn't have run away to the city. But I thought it was best and I doubted nothing when the fresh-air children came to the farm. I didn't like city children, but I let 'em come. I took 'em in and did what I could to make it pleasant for 'em. Poor little fellows, all as thin as cornstalks and pale as ghosts, and as dirty as you.

"I took 'em and let 'em ride the horses, and swim in the river, and shoot crows in the cornfield, and eat all the cherries they could pull, and what did the city send me in return for that? It sent me this thieving, rascally scheme of this man Percival's, and it turned my boy's head, and lost him to me. I saw him poring over the note and reading it as if it were the Gospel, and I suspected nothing. And when he asked me if he could keep it, I said yes he could, for I thought he wanted it for a curiosity, and then off he put with the black bag and the $200 he's been saving up to start housekeeping with when the old deacon says he can marry his daughter Kate." The old man placed both hands on his knees and went on excitedly.

"The old deacon says he'll not let 'em marry till Abe has $2000, and that is what the boy's come after. He wants to buy $2000 worth of bad money with his $200 worth of good money, to show the deacon, just as though it were likely a marriage after such a crime as that would ever be a happy one."

Snipes had stopped fanning the old man, as he ran on, and was listening intently, with an uncomfortable feeling of sympathy and sorrow, uncomfortable because he was not used to it.

He could not see why the old man should think the city should have treated his boy better because he had taken care of the city's children, and he was puzzled between his allegiance to the gang and his desire to help the gang's innocent victim and then because he was an innocent victim and not a "customer," he let his sympathy get the better of his discretion.

"Say," he began abruptly, "I'm not sayin' nothin' to nobody, and nobody's saying' nothin' to me, see? but I guess your son'll be around here today, sure. He's got to come before 1, for the offices closes sharp at 1, and we goes home. Now, I've got the call whether he gets his stuff taken off him or whether the boys leave him alone. If I say the word they'd no more come near him than if he had the cholera—see? An' I'll say it for this oncet, just for you. Hold on," he commanded, as the old man raised his voice in surprised interrogation, "don't ask no questions, 'cause you won't get no answers except lies. You find your way back to the Grand Central Depot and wait there, and I'll steer your son down to you, sure, as soon as I can find him—see? Now get along, or you'll get me inter trouble."

"You've been lying to me, then," cried the old man, "and you're as bad as any of them, and my boy's over in that house now."

(To be concluded tomorrow.)

JUNGLE TALES FOR CHILDREN

Told to the Post-Dispatch.

By Farmer Smith.

ONE day Jimmy Monkey went over to see Dr. Baboon and while he was there an awful noise was heard outside.

"Kerchoo!"

Looking out the doctor's window, Jimmy Monkey saw Mr. Giraffe's legs. Dr. Baboon looked out also and said:

"Hello, Mr. Giraffe, what's the matter with you?"

"I have a terrible cold," answered Mr. Giraffe.

"Wait a minute, I'll get on top of the house and look down your throat," said the doctor.

Then he scampered upstairs and got on the roof, where he could look down and see what the trouble was with Mr. Giraffe's throat.

In the meantime Jimmy Monkey had climbed out the back window and up in a cocoanut tree.

Dr. Baboon grabbed Mr. Giraffe's tongue to look down his throat; then Jimmy Monkey took a good aim and threw a cocoanut right down Mr. Giraffe's mouth.

"Oh, Doctor! Doctor!" yelled Mr. Giraffe. "Do not give me medicine so fast."

With that Mr. Giraffe went dashing down the road and Jimmy Monkey went back into the doctor's office singing:

"The Giraffe has a great long neck,
And when he goes to sneeze
It takes so long to reach his mouth
It winds up in a wheeze."

When the doctor came back he mixed up six dreadful tasting powders as he said to himself:

"I'll fix Jimmy Monkey for playing that trick on me."

When Jimmy Monkey took one of the powders he made an awful face and said to himself:

"I'll bet Dr. Baboon tried to get even with me for playing that trick on him.

HERE IS SOMETHING TO CHEW ON

"We Devote Too Much Time to Brushing Our Teeth and Not Enough to Exercising Them," Says Dr. Brady.

Nature furnishes her own toothbrush in the form of vegetables, cereals, fruits and nuts.

THE trouble with our teeth, says Dr. Brady, is that we don't gnaw bones. Our "civilized" food doesn't contain the qualities necessary to keep our "millstones" in the best of condition. He advises mothers to start early and train their children's teeth to be strong and healthy. Green vegetables and fruit help. Chew bones, too. That will help keep the false teeth away for a while at least. The Post-Dispatch assumes no responsibility for Dr. Brady's statements, presenting them as his own opinions.

By Dr. William Brady.

IN Tierra Del Fuego toothbrushes are worn as amulets—and the children gnaw bones. In Boston, children masticate verses from Browning—and dowagers wear toothbrushes to a frazzle. Yet, I'll wager you ten to one a Fuegian warrior could defeat any Boston terrier in an eating battle.

Aborigines and savages literally eat their way through life, while we frail civilized creatures start with the first incisors to dig our graves with our teeth. But when the excavation is about half finished we generally lose all our teeth and just crumble in despair.

Oral hygiene is a frenzied endeavor to sidestep the penalties of "civilized" diet. It consists of something like twenty years of brushing, filling, capping, bridging, crowning, plating, disinfecting, complaining, bleaching, scaling, cussing, chiseling, more cussing, and finally quitting. It is all well enough, but we don't start far enough back. Oral hygiene should begin about six months before the cutting of the first tooth.

In the wicked days of the past, when doctors mostly looked wise and said little, mothers used to expose their little ones to various unnecessary infections wrongly known as "children's diseases"—mumps, scarlet fever, measles and chicken pox. There was a false notion that these plagues were inevitable and that the children had to have them. How many innocents have been sacrificed to such ignorance nobody knows. But we do know that "children's diseases" are as inexcusable as are typhoid epidemics, and that every instance of such illnesses means that some parent, teacher, physician or health officer has failed in his duty.

Hand in hand with the fallacy of "children's diseases" went the fancy that it "didn't pay" to save the children's teeth filled by the dentist. The dentists are now loud in their assertion that neglect of the baby teeth means unsound permanent teeth. If the temporary set is not kept in repair, the permanent set will have to be kept in a glass of water beside the alarm clock over night.

Decay of the teeth causes decay of the lungs. A cavity in a child's tooth opens the way for direct infection of the glands of the neck with tuberculosis—"scrofula." The presence of defective teeth lowers the child's general resistance, and the tuberculosis germs may travel through the lymph channels directly into the lung. Thus a dental cavity produces a pulmonary cavity. And filling that little cavity a temporary tooth may prevent filling a little cavity in a cemetery.

Obstinate chronic stomach troubles in adults are frequently caused by bad teeth. Simple anemia or watery blood is very often dependent on decayed teeth. The relation between the teeth and the tonsils is disputed, the dentists declaring that the diseased teeth infect the tonsils, while the throat sharks insist that germs from the diseased tonsils cause the decay of the teeth. Both sides are probably right and wrong; the germs, no doubt, waltz to and fro between stations, according to the reception accorded them—just as mothers-in-law visits from daughter to daughter. One thing is certain, the child with sound teeth has very little trouble from tonsils.

The simile "as clean as a hound's tooth" implies that the hound works for his supper, gnawing it out of a bone. Feed him porterhouse steaks and chocolate fudge and he'll soon have toothache and indigestion like any pampered Pomeranian.

The reason we spend so much time in the dental chair and so much money for toothbrushes is merely that our diet is too refined. Nature furnishes her own toothbrush in the form of vegetables, cereals, fruits and nuts. Especially the fresh vegetables which may be eaten uncooked—these not only brush the teeth but feed them. Such are celery, lettuce, raw cabbage, onions, radishes and the like.

We are unduly fond of machine-masticated, predigested, denaturized food. We devote too much time to brushing our teeth and too little to exercising them. Our great mills grind extensively, but they grind exceedingly fine. In fact, they carefully remove the layer of lime and phosphorus which lies next the shell of the kernel of the wheat and offer us a devitalized, constipating apology for bread flour which is neither fit to masticate nor worth the effort. More than 90 per cent of the enamel of teeth is lime phosphate, but our "civilized" diet cheats us out of this vital tooth tonic. The "staff of life" is not what it was cracked up to be in the days of the nether millstone.

The green vegetables and fruits furnish lime and phosphorus for the teeth, as well as iron and other elements for the building of good blood. Horace Fletcher's doctrine catches us coming and going around a vicious circle; improper diet makes poor teeth, and poor teeth are unable to masticate the food. We should break in upon this vicious circle at all corners, hybernically speaking, to save the snake from swallowing himself. This is true oral hygiene.

In the first place, let the children gnaw bones and crack nuts with their baby teeth like other little animals do. Out of the bones they suck lime phosphate to make good blood and strong teeth. Out of the nuts they get natural exercise for the strong teeth.

Next, let us pray that the mills of Minneapolis will give us this day undenaturized, whole wheat bread, and lead us not into constipation and deliver us from anemia and crumbling teeth.

Finally, give the children a square deal—and a square jaw, by taking them to the dentist upon the appearance of the slightest cavity. Let the dentist determine whether some anti-acid mouth-wash or tooth powder is advisable, and let him show the little ones how to use the tooth brush.

The toothless man is not a fighting man. (N. B.—T. R.) Tooth brushes never won any battles. In modern life the great thing is EFFICIENCY. Dens Sana in Corpore Sano.

Her Photograph.

GIRLS, be very careful about giving your photograph to young men whom you do not know very well.

Leaving out of consideration the actual dangers which attend the promiscuous handing about of photographs, so much that is disagreeable may crop up from the practice that every young woman should avoid it.

A conceited young man frequently flaunts a girl's photograph before the eyes of his friends as a "conquest." Another young man, a quite undesirable person, may make a fine impression for the first few meetings. After a silly, impulsive girl has given him her photo she will be very likely to find that she doesn't care for his acquaintance. It is most unpleasant to remember that he has such a tangible proof of her favor as her portrait, yet, ten to one, he cannot be induced to return it.

Make your photograph a token of respect to be won only by tried and tested friendship.

"F" writes: "Is it true that a young man loses all respect for a girl who allows herself to be kissed after four months of friendship?"

That depends on the man. But it is generally understood that a nice girl permits only her fiance to kiss her.

Talk to Her.

N. B. writes: "I am much in love with a girl who works where I do. But though she smiles whenever we meet she won't speak to me outside our place of employment. What shall I do?"

Why not ask her if she will let you call or take her to some place of amusement?

A Terrible Risk.

L. E. writes: "A young man has called on me for two years and has never made any attempt to kiss me. Would it be proper for me to make any advances in this direction?"

Most certainly not.

A Possible Insult.

E. C. writes: "While walking with some girls a young man I know passed by and said something which I didn't understand. The girls declared that he insulted me, but I don't want to believe it, as he never did such a thing before. What shall I do?"

Ask the girls what he said. Then ask him if he said it. And if he is your friend, believe what he tells you.

Lady's Choice.

R. G. writes: "When a lady and gentleman meet, which should show the first sign of recognition?"

The lady should bow first.

Wait a While.

J. L. writes: "I am in love with a girl of 19. Though our love seems to increase daily, her parents object to our marriage. What shall we do?"

Wait till the girl comes of age and then marry if you still wish to do so.

It Isn't Nice.

E. H. writes: "Does a girl degrade herself if she flirts with a young man she meets every day on the cars?"

She should not speak to him unless she has been properly introduced.

Silly Child.

S. A. writes: "I am 15 and very much in love with a man 18 years older than myself, who wants me to elope with him. But as I am still in school my parents object to his attentions. What shall I do?"

"You are nothing but a child, and you should obey your parents.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy

Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually ends a deep-seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles.

This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—ADV.

WHY THE FREE BRIDGE IS NOT FINISHED

Are We Shiftless?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The bridge is not completed. Because St. Louis still has that remnant of Southern shiftlessness which causes deferred results in many things. What Northern city would stand for this intolerable bridge situation?

FRED C. REMINGTON, city.

Due to Our Slowness.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While St. Louis has the goods, she is mighty slow about delivering them sometimes. Therefore, the free bridge is not finished. ELIOT E. BARSTON.

Terminal Is One Reason.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

My reasons for the unfinished free bridge are good ones and I think solve the mystery. The Terminal Association, with millions behind it, is one of the reasons. Do you realize that there is a toll of $5 collected for every car transferred across the Eads Bridge? It remains for one of the trunk railways to purchase an interest in the free bridge and complete it. B. G. MILLER.

314 S. Second street, St. Charles, Mo.

"Just Because."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The reason the bridge is not completed is just—because. Don't we always speak of St. Louis as "she?"

E. S. JASPER.

East St. Louis, Ill.

Apathy, Suspicion and Wrangling.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

If the bridge bond issue had carried at first election, it does not follow that the bridge would have been completed. Therefore the question should properly be: "Why was the bridge bond issue not carried?"

Answer: Apathy, and lack of civic spirit among voters; widespread suspicion of the Southern Traction franchise; wrangling over the different approaches.

D. B. GRANDY, 5240 Garfield av.

"No Funds."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why the free bridge is not completed —no funds. MRS. H. B. JACOBY, 2220 East Euclid avenue, city.

But the Bridge Is Not a Joke.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why the free bridge is not finished: For lack of sense and cents.

GEORGIE A. BECK.

1800 Rutger street, city.

The People Must Decide.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Because the City Council wants to force on the people something they don't want and choke it down. Let the citizens of St. Louis vote on the franchise and other difficulties and decide for themselves, then they will probably vote bonds to finish the bridge.

GEO. A. TISDALE,

817 Bond av., East St. Louis, Ill.

Three Reasons.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

What has prevented and is still preventing the completion of the free bridge: (1) graft, (2) selfishness of big business, (3) stupidity.

H. J. KLEIN, Belleville, Ill.

Free Bridge Bottled.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Passing Southern Traction franchise; violating Section 9494 Revised Statutes of Missouri, and Reber approach bottling free bridge causes its present condition.

CORNELIUS H. FAUNTLEROY.

Lack of Co-Operation.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why the free bridge is not finished: Want of co-operation.

MRS. C. M. HURST,

Modern Adventure.

"I WAS stopped on the street last night and invited into the house of a perfect stranger."

"Ah, an Arabian Nights adventure. What was the outcome of it all?"

"Nothing hazardous. They simply had to have a fourth man to play auction bridge."

Society Women Wash Their Own Hair

"Home shampooing among society women is rapidly gaining in popularity," says Mae Martyn, writing for the Boston American. "This is not a fad or fancy, but rather because splendid results are attained in this manner through the use of canthrox.

"If you would have luxuriant growth of glossy hair, try this easy way of shampooing: Dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a teacup of hot water, then pour on the scalp and rub vigorously for a few minutes, after which the hair and scalp should be rinsed carefully. When the hair is dry you will be delighted with its fluffy, glossy condition.

"While canthrox is not expensive, you should be careful to get it in an original package."—ADV.

SIMPLE PRESCRIPTION WONDERFUL KIDNEY AND BLADDER CURE

The following simple prescription has become famous on account of its remarkable cures in cases of kidney and bladder ailments. Get six ounces of good pure gin and add to it one-half ounce Murax Compound and one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu. Take one to two teaspoonfuls of this mixture after each meal and at bedtime. It quickly relieves backache, rheumatic pains in the joints and other well-known symptoms which can hardly be mentioned here. The ingredients can be had at any good drug store and are easily mixed. Be sure to use good, pure gin. Also make sure to use the genuine Murax Compound, which comes in a sealed wooden tube, as a substitute will not give the desired results.

The real serious forms of kidney disease can be avoided if the above treatment is taken in time.—ADV.

NEW YORK LESS IMMORAL

Fewer Disorderly Houses Now Than Before Becker's Sentence.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Since the murder of Herman Rosenthal, for which former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker and four gunmen are confined in the death house at Sing Sing prison, the Committee of Fourteen, an organization of prominent citizens, in its annual report for 1912, finds a decrease in the number of disorderly houses in the city.

"Previous to the Rosenthal case," the report says, "very little was done by the Police Department to suppress disorderly hotels. Since the murder the department has been much more active in suppressing all violations of law."

CONGRESS OBTAINS FACTS ON ALLEGED CONSUMPTION CURE

Complete Data on Friedmann's Claim Will Soon Be Published.

BASIC SECRET WITHHELD

German Scientist Says He Discovered a "Virulent Race of Tubercules."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Translations of Dr. Frederick Friedmann's statements regarding his new system of treating tuberculosis furnished to Congress through Consul General Thackera, at Berlin have been completed by the State Department and the complete data procured at the request of Congress will soon be published.

Dr. Friedmann's address did not give the secret of his new remedy, which is understood to be serum derived from "cold-blooded" animals. According to official reports, he will not make this known until he is prepared to furnish it to physicians. In his description of his search for a tuberculosis serum, and the method of applying his new remedy, which he claimed had been tried on more than 183 persons, Dr. Friedmann said he discovered a "virulent race of tubercles." They were not then suited to use in man, but he succeeded after long experiment in completely changing their character.

Dangers of baccilli becoming virulent after being injected into the human body were removed. Dr. Friedmann said, by long cultivation of germs.

Tried Serum on Himself.

"Finally I repeatedly injected it into myself," he continued, "then into tuberculosis patients, then into consumptive children and finally, when the successful therapeutic results continued to be confirmed (which was a long time afterward) into children by way of prophylactic inoculation."

Dr. Friedmann did not enter a description of his preparation into the report which is to be published by Congress.

"The preparation proved perfectly harmless in large doses and however applied," he said.

"The treatment consists of intramuscular incorporation inoculating once, twice or three times, seldom oftener, and repeated at long intervals. An infiltrate must form at the place of injection; this infiltrate should be from the size of a walnut to that of a small apple and will gradually disappear in the course of the next few weeks or months. As long as this tissue exists, and during its gradual absorption, the healing will go on.

Describes Effect of Serum.

"Only if, and as long as the injected substance is completely absorbed, and remains in the body do the healing effects appear most striking; as a rule this occurs very soon and the healing then progresses steadily. We often see, under the influence of a single injection, bone and joint fistulas of long standing become clean and close; big, hard glandular tumors diminish considerably in size; tubercular abscesses flatten down and cicatrize; chronic scrofulous eczema heals permanently, and, last but not least, pulmonary consumptives lose all their troubles and physical symptoms of disease."

Dr. Friedmann admitted in his speech that with some patients the resorption of the substance is not complete, and that it becomes useless to give a new injection. In many of these cases, he said, he had failures.

Dr. Friedmann Will Sail for New York Feb. 18.

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—Dr. Friedrich F. Friedmann, the discoverer of the alleged remedy for tuberculosis, will sail for New York Feb. 18, on the Kron Prinzessin Cecilie.

Dr. Friedmann, who could not be found yesterday, returned to Berlin today. He declared that he had been at Frankfort-on-the-Main, and had handed over his remedy to Dr. Paul Ehrlich, who will make experiments with it at the Government Institute of Experimental Therapeutics.

COLLIE ROUTS THIEVES WHO STEAL MASTER'S RIG

Carried Off in Buggy He Guarded, He Attacks Two Men and Drives Them Away.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Feb. 11.—A Scotch collie dog bit and routed two horse-thieves who tried to steal its master's horse and buggy last night.

Finding the horse tied in the street here, the two men jumped into the buggy and drove off rapidly, taking the dog with them. At Frpntenac, Kan., three miles away, the men left the rig to make some purchases. When they returned the collie attacked them viciously, biting both of them.

When his master arrived the dog still was doing guard duty.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Most Serious Problem of Today. Due Largely to Sickness. Read This Letter.

That the high cost of living is due largely to sickness, especially among the women folk, no one can doubt, but in the following letter from Mrs. Sylvania Woods of this place it is brought more forcibly home to us. "Before I began to take Cardui, the woman's tonic, my back and head would hurt so bad, day and night, I thought the pain would kill me. I was unable to attend to any of my household duties.

"I had only taken three bottles of Cardui, when I began to feel like a new woman. Within a few months I gained 35 pounds, and now, I not only do all my own housework and washing, but, most of the time, run a big water mill, while my husband runs the farm.

"I wish every suffering woman would give Cardui a trial, for I am sure it would help them, as it has me."—Clifton Mills, Ky.

At an expense of $3.00, for three bottles of Cardui, Mrs. Woods regained her health, and is now able to attend to the numerous duties, which, formerly, she either had to hire done, or neglect, thus increasing her cost of living.

Lady reader, are you suffering from any of the ailments so common to your sex? Wouldn't it be worth a few dollars to you to feel well enough to look after your daily work?

Try Cardui.

Grip Prostrating Thousands

The severe and unseasonable weather believed to be responsible for the increase.

Reports from all over the country indicate a great increase in the number of cases of grip and pneumonia, and the unusually dangerous form that grip is taking this season.

Grip and pneumonia attack quickly the system run down from overwork, from exposure and from the strain of worry.

They are especially dangerous at this season of the year, when people ofttimes neglect to prepare themselves for the sudden and severe changes of weather and prevent the consequences of unexpected exposure.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has been recognized as the most effective remedy and preventive of grip, pneumonia, coughs, colds and diseases of the respiratory organs. Physicians use, recommend and prescribe it in private practice and in hospital work.

The secret of the marvelous success of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in relieving and preventing threat and lung troubles lies in the fact that it is one of the greatest strengtheners and health builders known to medicine. It not only checks the ravages of the disease itself, but prevents the waste of tissues, and helps the stomach to more perfectly digest and assimilate food.

HUNDREDS of opportunities are placed in the path of those who make it a point each day to look over Post-Dispatch Wants carefully.

HOLDUP MEN ROB 3; ESCAPE POLICE IN STALLED AUTO

Grocery and Saloon Registers Emptied—Officers Too Late Because of Accident.

Three unmasked men robbed the grocery and saloon of Jacob Schott at 4658 Nebraska avenue, at 8:45 p. m. Monday, and obtained $38. While two of them pointed revolvers at Schott and his clerk, William Berberich, the third emptied the cash registers. They got away while policemen rushing to capture them were delayed by a stalled automobile.

Two of the robbers entered the grocery and one entered the saloon at the same time. Berberich was in the grocery. A revolver caused him to obey the order to hold up his hands. Then one of them took $18 from the register.

The third robber found Schott in the saloon with Jacob Stucke of 4757 Michigan avenue, and while he kept the two with their hands up, the man who had emptied the grocery register came in and took $20 from the saloon register.

From Schott the robber took a cheap watch and a fat wallet, but Schott says it contained nothing but receipts and other papers. Schott's daughter opened a door as the men came in, saw what was going on, and ran for the police.

Detectives were rushed to the store in a department automobile. At Jefferson and Scott avenues the machine skidded into a vacant lot, and after a 10-minute delay, started again. At Chouteau avenue the engine stopped. Then the detectives boarded a street car, and they got to the grocery too late. The robbers had fled.

HOLD-UP MEN PLAY CLERK WHILE SHOPMAN COWERS

Wait on Customers Until Store Is Emptied and Then Rob the Cash Drawer.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 11.—Two highwaymen, to avert suspicion, assumed the role of clerks and waited on customers while robbing Apostle Folopoulo, owner of a candy shop here, last night. Two girls entered just as the men were drawing their pistols.

"Get into the back room quick and stay there," one of the men whispered to the proprietor. After this command was obeyed the weapons were concealed and one of the "clerks" sold the girls two pounds of stuffed dates for a dime.

Other customers followed in quick succession and it was several minutes before business quieted down sufficiently for the robbers to finish their work. They then scooped all the money out of the cash register and escaped.

THREE HURT IN CAR CRASH

Man's Skull Fractured in Collision on McKinley Line.

Three men were injured and several women fainted when an Illinois Traction car bound for Springfield crashed into an empty trailer Monday night at Granite City. The car contained 40 passengers. The empty coach had been left on the track near a curve and was not seen by the motorman until it was too late to prevent the collision.

The most seriously injured was John Rodester, 35 years old, of Gillespie, Ill. His skull was fractured. John Tillo, 30, of Gillespie, was cut about the head and face by broken glass. Both were taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Granite City. John Theen, a coal miner, was slightly cut and bruised, but went to his home in Gillespie.

SULZER REFUSES BODY-GUARD IN HOME TOWN

"More Afraid of Police Than Citizens" He Says, as He Sends Detective Back.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 11.—"I am more afraid of New York's policemen than I am of New York's citizens," was the declaration made by Gov. Sulzer at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York, last Saturday. The Governor was speaking to Acting Detective Sergeant Sylvester Briereton, detailed by Commissioner Waldo to act as Sulzer's bodyguard. He was sent back to headquarters by the Governor, with the admonition that "William Sulzer, while Governor, will need no guarding or guide visiting his home city."

"If I am not with you, your auto may be held up in the streets," advised the detective.

"Well, I want to obey the traffic laws, just like other folks," explained the Governor.

When Briereton reminded the Governor that he needed someone to protect him from cranks or the like, Sulzer made his statement about the police.

You can't see how those poisonous, deep drawn inhalations each one tempt another, until the habit is fixed and so are you!

But scientists know. They know that a single drop of Nicotine kills a dog.

They know that the fumes of this deadly narcotic paralyze the muscles of the heart, drench the lungs of the inhaler and tear down tissue faster than Nature can ever hope to build it up.

And they know that cemeteries and insane asylums are packed with the thousands who have inhaled their last whiff.

Makes Your Backache Quickly Disappear

A Few Doses Relieves All Such Miseries, Bladder Ailments, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Promptly Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for anyone to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleansing out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and nearby organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back, and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case. —ADVERTISEMENT.

MAKE A BIG SUPPLY

Sufficient to Last Throughout the Winter.

Splendid Home-Made Cold and Cough Medicine Made From Pure Essence Mentho-Laxene; Cheap and Effective, Too.

Usually a family spends two to five dollars every winter for cough, cold, and catarrh remedies, buying 25c worth at a time.

For instance, a two-ounce bottle, at 25c, will contain about four-fifths "syrup" and one fifth "medicine." That's paying too much for ordinary syrup; you can make a half gallon of syrup for 25c.

The syrup, extra bottles, labels, corks, cartons, etc., make this method of buying very expensive by the end of the year.

A little thought and wisdom will save any family several dollars and give them purer and better medicine, too.

Make a simple syrup with a pint of granulated sugar and a half pint of boiling water; then buy the pure concentrated essence Mentho-Laxene at your drug store (2½-oz. bottle) and empty it into a pint bottle or jar and then fill it up with the syrup.

Now you have a season's supply of the purest, best and most promptly effective cold and catarrh cure and cough medicine that it is possible to obtain. It keeps indefinitely, and cures young and old of colds, catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, hoarseness, shortness of breath and all lung and bronchial trouble. It is the only remedy that cures coughs and drives catarrhal matter out of the system by its tonic-laxative action. It improves the appetite, reduces fever and strengthens the system, thus avoiding chronic ailments and consumption.

Directions with each bottle of Essence Mentho-Laxene tell how to make and how to take. The manufacturers also guarantee to refund money to any one not pleased by its thorough effectiveness. The above product is manufactured by the Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, O.—ADVERTISEMENT.

"Your Blood Impoverished?" How to Change It

A medical writer of some renown states that impoverished blood is responsible for many chronic ailments, such as extreme thinness, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy weakness, paleness and languor or dullness of sensation. To overcome such conditions it is first necessary to supply the system with the essentials necessary to make red and white blood corpuscles. For just as soon as the blood is enriched all such symptoms vanish as if by magic. The formula of Weller's Tonic Pills was submitted to him and he stated instantly that this was a compound which, taken for a few weeks, should revitalize any case of impoverished blood. Any large dealer in drugs is authorized to guarantee satisfactory results when this pill is used or refund the purchase price. A two weeks' treatment only costs fifty cents. Testimony like this should induce a trial at once.—ADVERTISEMENT.

ORVAL OVERALL REINSTATED; IS OWNED BY CUBS

National Commission Also Restores Standing of Player Torry, of the Giants.

DRAFT SEASON SET BACK

Johnson's Claim Against Dubuque Club Upheld by Baseball Moguls.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The National Baseball Commission, in session here today, adopted a new rule, to be numbered 29, which will set back the drafting season for certain minor leagues to Nov. 15. The rule will be promulgated within a few days.

The commission reinstated Pitcher Overall, formerly of the Chicago Nationals, and Player Torrey of the New York Nationals. Overall had been out of the game since 1910. It was stated that he refused to sign a contract in 1911 on the plea of a bad arm. He was reinstated without penalty.

The commission allowed the claim of Player Johnson against the Dubuque club.

National Club owners were ready to go into session immediately after the commission meeting.

Stallings Looking for Players.

Manager Stallings of the Boston Nationals is trying to strengthen his club, and is angling for Infielder Milton Stock, from New York. Manager McGraw is said to be willing to pass along Stock and Infielder Groh, to Boston if he can secure Pitcher Tyler in return. McGraw wants a lefthander in reserve in case "Rube" Marquard fails to play this year.

Manager Frank Chance says he will probably make no deals to strengthen the New York American until after he has seen them in action in spring training.

Manager Evers is looking about for pitchers and an outfielder for the Chicago Cubs, though he says he is very well satisfied with his team as it stands.

The Cleveland club proposes to hold onto Infielder Olsen, but is willing to trade Pookinpaugh to New York for a pitcher, said to be McConnell.

CHICAGO BEATS PIRATE TEAM, LOCALS MOVE UP

St. Louis, although idle, moved into third place Monday evening when Chicago defeated Pittsburg, 50—47, in the National Three-Cushion League. The Pirate entry tumbled from second to fifth place as a result of the defeat. Jimmy Shea played for Chicago and set a high run mark for the year, collecting a sequence of eight. Charles McCourt held the cue for Pittsburg.

New York found the Boston team easy, John Dankleman defeating Charles Warren, 50—32. Warren made a run of five.

WRAY'S COLUMN

ROGER, THE COSTLIEST PLAYER.

WHEN figuring which baseball player now in the major leagues cost his club the most money you don't have to go any further than Roger P. Bresnahan. He's the guy that put the O—or, as we prefer it, the OWE—in the Cardinals' bank roll.

Thanks to Roger, the St. Louis National League club stockholders now OWE $65,000 in the shape of a plaster placed on its stock by the owners.

Figuring Roger from two angles since he was first sought by St. Louis, the club has been forced to pay on his account about $70,000. Also, as a result of friction in which Roger figured all too strongly, the club's profits fell from about $120,000 (unofficial) in 1911 to $15,000 in 1912, a loss to the club of $105,000, which Mrs. Britton attributes largely to Roger's failure to "deliver." This makes Roger's actual cost to the club about $175,000—which is going some, for even a millionaire's club.

And it has been long since the St. Louis team was that.

• • •

ON THE OTHER HAND.

THE other side of the shield, however, shows that it was Roger who for three years steadily built up the team. It was he who developed many of the players now with the club and it was he who made that $120,000 profits of the preceding season possible.

None the less, however, is he chiefly responsible for the fact that the club has contracted $65,000 indebtedness. He was paid to make good during the three years of his success, which offsets the club's obligation. For the rest—well, why continue? They still are boosting a Bresnahan day.

• • •

SUCH INTERESTING CONTESTS.

NOW that the Cardinals' bleacherites are to have seat backs to lean against, President Hedges of the Browns may go one better and install hammocks.

• • •

SUFFERING FROM ENLARGEMENT.

NOW they are calling Luther McCarty the cheese champion. Must be of the head cheese variety.

• • •

DUE TO HEATED ATMOSPHERE.

WILLLIE desired of his father the information as to whether the trade winds were hot. Whereupon father vouchsafed the opinion that all winds, originating with Charles Webb Murphy were hot.

• • •

A COMMON CHATTEL.

J. L. R.—Why worry about the past? "Free agent" is a term applied to an obsolete condition in which a baseball player was permitted to dispose of his own services to the highest bidder.

• • •

THEY KEEP IT IN THE SAFE.

Ty Cobb, in his advice to young ball players, tells them to always "hit the first or second ball over." This mere bagatelle can be accomplished quite as readily as—well, say as easily as you might buy a pound of bacon for 10 cents.

And they do say that diamonds are nothing in price to hog meat.

Attell Refuses to Box Appelt; Club Bars Him

By Harry S. Sharpe.

Members of the Tower Social Athletic Club were given plenty to think about, but little boxing, when they met Monday night at the club's headquarters, 5018 Florissant avenue, to enjoy a fistic entertainment provided for them by Manager Barney McCarthy. It was no fault, however, of the manager that the show did not turn out as planned, but was due to unforeseen circumstances over which he had no control.

To begin with, the blackened-glove exhibition scheduled between Michael O'Toole and Jerry O'Leary came to an abrupt ending when, in the second round, O'Toole got a crack on the nose that made him decide to quit then and there, and no persuasion on the part of his seconds or the pleadings of Manager McCarthy could induce him to continue.

Robinson Loses on Foul.

The bout between Eddie Robinson and Vincent Beck, eight two-minute rounds at 133 pounds, ended in the fifth when Robinson was declared the loser on a foul, having landed a low blow, and Beck was unable to continue.

Beck learned to box in the United States Navy and appeared to be quite clever against his awkward opponent, but seemed to have but little force behind his punches, otherwise he might have won by a knockout in the early rounds, because he seemed to have no trouble in landing his blows.

Hess Refuses to Continue.

Jack Harrington and Jack Hess came on for the main event, eight two-minute rounds at 140 pounds, but in the third round Hess claimed to have been hit low, and when Referee Billy Maloney refused to allow the claim of foul the boxer refused to continue.

After the bout Referee Maloney said he was quite certain that Hess had not been fouled, but wanted to quit. To add to Hess' discomfort Manager McCarthy declared that Hess would not receive a cent for his performance.

"Young Abie" Attell was to have gone on with George Appelt, but when the latter stepped in the ring ready to do business Attell refused the issue, saying there was not enough money in the house for him. Manager McCarthy declared that Attell could never again appear before his club after Abie's withdrawal.

Meiers Defeats Bob Smith.

Three six-round bouts and a four-round exhibition entertained members of the Moose at their headquarters in the Holland Building Monday night.

In the first bout Eddie Meiers won the decision from Bob Smith at 118 pounds. Bud Kelly bested "Kid" Williams at 145 pounds and Eddie Menney won from Willie Krug at 124 pounds.

"Young" Jim Flynn and Fargo Wells boxed the exhibition.

Clarence Robbins officiated as referee.

SPORT SALAD BY L. C. DAVIS.

THE BALLYHOO.

"Won't you walk into my ball yard?"
Said the magnate to the fan.
"I've got the finest bleachers there
That ever you did scan.
The seats of best Norwegian pine
Stretch out in goodly rows,
From which the pitch and turpentine
Forever gently flows.

"Won't you walk into my ball yard
And while the hours away?
You'll find that it is very hard
To tear yourself away;
It's such a fascinating show
That, just as like as not,
You'll find when you attempt to go
You're rooted to the spot.

"Won't you walk into my ball yard?
The teams are nicely matched,
And to my nifty bleacher seats
You'll soon become attached.
They're only twenty-five a throw,
Equipped with backs throughout;
And you'll be loth to leave them, bo—
You're bound to stick it out!"

The American League has adopted its schedule. We hope the Browns have been allotted more winning games at home than last year.

Huggins is stopping at the Walledoff-Castoria. Hope the "Rabbit" doesn't jump his board bill.

It is rumored that Cy Seymour will line up with the Boston Nationals. Joe Tinker must have been asleep at the switch.

The Browns open the season at home. They may finish where Capt. Scott met his fate.

JACK McDERMOTT TO PLAY McNAMARA AT PINEHURST

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Jack McDermott, the national open golf champion, will start South soon for a two-weeks' tour, preliminary to his departure to England this spring to seek the British championship. He will go first to Pinehurst, where he will meet Tom McNamara, the Boston player, who won the Metropolitan open championship last summer.

It is learned here that the country club of Havana, Cuba, has arranged for the first time for an invitation golf tournament, which is expected to be an annual fixture. It is to be held from Feb. 18 to 22 inclusive.

EASTERN SOCCER LEAGUE DECLARES ST. LEOS OUTLAWS

American Association Teams Not Permitted to Arrange Games With Locals.

By Clarence F. Lloyd.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The St. Leos, who seem to have a just claim to the American soccer championship, are outlaws in the eyes of the American Football Association—whatever that is—and for that reason were not picked as the St. Louis team to invade the East and play the best kicking machines in this section of the country next month.

Instead, the Innisfails or a picked team of soccerites of the Athletic Park League will be brought on for a series of six games. This decision was reached at a meeting of the American Football Association Saturday night. Notice of the action of the A. F. A. has been mailed to Secretary Will J. Dooling of the St. Louis Soccer League.

The St. Leos are really regarded as the strongest team in St. Louis, but because the Mullanphy street aggregation withdrew from the league without any real good cause the A. F. A. put the ban on the American-born champions.

Schedule for Innisfails.

This is the tentative schedule as announced this morning by Secretary Beveridge of the American Football Association:

March 22, Victors or Hibernians, Philadelphia; March 23, West Hudsons, Newark, N. J.; March 24, Philadelphia, no team named; March 26, Howard-Bullroughs, Pawtucket, R. I.; March 29, Fall River Rovers, Fall River, Mass.; March 30, Harrison, Jersey City or Paterson, N. J.

Tom Cahill, former soccer promoter of St. Louis, now of Newark and New York, is still willing to wager $500 or any part thereof that the St. Leos can defeat any of the Eastern elevens, provided the game is not played in Harrison, N. J., and that no A. P. A. referee officiates.

He thinks pretty well of the St. Leos. Asked if he thought the Innisfails or a picked team would have a good chance in the proposed tour, he said he didn't care to talk about any team but the St. Leos.

That likely means that Thomasso believes the Innisfails or whatever team is sent here from St. Louis, aside from the St. Leos, is in for a good trouncing.

Bronson-Kelly Bout Arranged; Men Meet Mar. 5

Frank Moore, matchmaker for the Irish-American Athletic Club, announced today that he had obtained the signatures of Leo Kelly of St. Louis and Ray Bronson of Indianapolis to articles calling for an eight-round contest before the I. A. A. C. on March 5. The men will weigh in at 145 pounds ringside, the New York commission's new welterweight limit.

As announced in Monday's Post-Dispatch, the contest will be the I. A. A. C.'s opening show, the new quarters of the club being at 3940 Easton avenue. Originally the date was set for Feb. 26, but was postponed when the Future City A. C. was compelled to change its date. Kelly will be fighting in the welterweight division for the first time.

Magirl to Box Rowan.

The Art Magirl-Marty Rowan renewal, announced in this paper several days ago, has been practically arranged. The men will meet Feb. 25 in an eight-round contest at the Future City Athletic Club. The Future City date has been changed from Feb. 22 to Feb. 25. Magirl and Rowan gave a great exhibition in their recent encounter.

Kreider Would Box Belmont.

Rude Kreider, who made a hit here as an amateur in M. A. C. colors five years ago, is in the city, a professional, now. Kreider was in Luther McCarty's training camp at Titusville, Pa. He is seeking a bout with Kingdon Belmont.

Ames Five Easy for Missouri.

AMES, Io., Feb. 11.—Although outclassing Missouri at handling the ball, Ames could not find the basket and lost to the Tigers, 33 to 18, in State gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The "Cyclone" carried the ball wherever they chose, but fell down miserably on shooting. Pfund, mainstay of the Ames quintet, shot but one field basket during the entire game, and his usual accuracy from the foul line was a complete fizzle.

M'CARTY REFUSES CHANCE TO MEET BRITISH FIGHTER

New York Promoters Try to Bring Champion and Wells Together.

By Robert Edgren.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Yesterday afternoon bold Luther McCarty, white hope champion, and his manager, McCarney, showed how far the present pretender to the crown once worn by Sullivan, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, etc., will run to get out of a fight.

Bombardier Wells was the challenger Bombardier had just arrived from England, 10 pounds heavier than when he came here before, and claiming to be at least 10 pounds a better man.

Billy McCarney, as McCarty's manager, made an engagement to meet Wells and Jem Maloney, his manager, at Billy Gibson's office yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

At 1 o'clock Wells, Maloney and Gibson sat waiting.

At 2 o'clock they sat waiting.

At 3 o'clock they still sat waiting, albeit somewhat restless.

Several newspaper men also sat waiting, expecting to see a match made. Bombardier Wells courteously explained to the writers that he would discuss terms and sign, if there was any signing, publicly, as he had nothing to conceal. His wish was simply to sign for a match with McCarty as quickly as possible. Gibson had named March 14 as the date and offered Wells a satisfactory percentage of the gate, which Wells had accepted without haggling.

Some time after 3 o'clock McCarney strolled in, having gone through the usual cheap bluff indulged in by imitation "champions" to show their importance by keeping "the other guy" waiting.

Casting his eye suspiciously over the assemblage, McCarney said that he couldn't have any public discussion. No, indeed. He must whisper his business into Gibson's ear, in a private room. It would be little short of lese majesty to disclose the private affairs of the illustrious Luther before the vulgar common herd. Gibson took McCarney out somewhere. The others waited.

One hour passed. Then another.

Promoter Gibson Is Tired.

Finally Gibson came back about 6 o'clock looking weary. McCarney had slipped away to catch a train to Pittsburg, where bold Luther was anxiously waiting to see if he had successfully thrown Wells off the scent.

What had happened outside?

Why, Gibson had first offered McCarty 40 per cent of the gross receipts to box Wells 10 rounds.

McCarney said 40 per cent wouldn't be enough to induce bold Luther to get into a ring with Wells.

"But that fight would draw a tremendous house," Gibson explained. McCarty isn't very popular here, because of his poor fights in New York, but Wells is. Why, 40 per cent of that house would be more than Corbett, McCoy, Fitzsimmons, Ruhlin, Jeffries, John L. Sullivan or any of the great old-timers ever got in the Garden."

McCarney intimated that he might take the risk of letting McCarty get into a ring with Wells for more money than that. Gibson didn't disclose what his demand was. He just said it made him feel dizzy; said it involved giving McCarty the Garden on a golden platter.

Eventually, after two hours of discussion, McCarney admitted that he didn't want to risk his meal ticket, anyway, as he was "getting $2500 a week doing one-night stands on a vaudeville circuit." He preferred that kind of money to the kind to be earned in the ring.

Magnificent champion McCarty!

So Gibson has called off negotiations with McCarty, and will send for "Gunboat" Smith. "Gunboat" isn't afraid to fight. And "Gunboat" is at least as risky a proposition as the tenderly preserved McCarty.

FATHER WILL REFEREE SON'S BOUT IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A boxing bout in which a father will act as referee and in which the son will be principal, arranged for Saturday night at one of the professional clubs here, is believed by local sporting authorities to be the first of its kind in prize ring history.

Billy Joh, widely known as a referee, will act as arbiter when his oldest son, Billy Jr., makes the first appearance in the ring with some local boxer. Young Joh has adopted the name of "Fighting Joe Hooker," the name of a noted Civil War soldier under whom his grandfather fought.

Koney Will Not Be Traded, Manager Huggins Declares

Cards Need Him Badly

Unless Some Rival Leader Loses His Mind and Offers a Bunch of Stars, There's No Chance for "Big Train" to Go Because of Salary Wrangle.

By Clarence F. Lloyd.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sporting Staff.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.

"I AM not going to trade Ed Koney." That was the rapid-fire reply handed out by Miller Huggins of the Cardinals when I asked the small skipper of the Robison Field forces about the big first baseman's future.

Rumors regarding the big Bohemian have been afloat. Some have had him traded to Chicago and others to the Pirates of Pittsburg. But Koney will remain a member of the Cardinals—unless, as Huggins himself says, some rival manager is stricken with generosity and makes an offer that he cannot turn down. That is hardly likely to happen, in the opinion of Roger Bresnahan's successor.

"Koney is the best first baseman in the National League, and for that reason we cannot afford to lose him," continued Huggins. "There is a difference regarding the salary he wants and the salary offered him. But the fact that he has not signed should not be foundation sufficient for some of the foolish yarns that have been printed about a possible trade, involving Ed.

"When I say that he will remain with the Cardinals, it naturally means that we expect to come to an agreement. If Ed is fair in the transaction, we'll come to an early settlement."

"Hug" is here principally because it's the custom for owners and managers to assemble at these gatherings. While here, however, he'll try to make good his visit by snatching a pitcher. The hurler is now a member of an international league team, and Hug believes he's ripe for major League duty. He is going to look up the club owner and try to pluck the aforesaid flinger before he hikes back to Cincinnati.

The mite manager intends to remain in Rhineland until about Feb. 20, when he will go to St. Louis and make preparations for the Southern jaunt.

Huggins admits that the stories regarding Koney's holdout have caused other clubs to inquire about big Ed. Chicago, Pittsburg and even the Philadelphia Nationals, who have Fred Luderus as guardian of the initial sack, are after the St. Louisan. When Charley Dooin of the Phillies read of Koney's kick, he wrote to Huggins telling him that he wanted to be in on the ground floor, if it came time for bidding for Koney's services.

The lone kick to arise, following the meeting and adjournment of the American League magnates came from Col. Hedges of the Browns. His complaint about the dates is that the Brownies will not be seen in action on the Sportsman's Park sward in American League game after Sept. 7. Hedges drew plums in the way of 12 Saturday and as many Sunday at-homes. This, despite the fact that the four Western towns of the circuit are now Sunday cities. The Fourth of July date also goes to the Browns, the White Sox of Chicago being the attraction on the lone St. Louis American holiday.

Brown Pitcher a Fighter.

The Browns own a pitcher who is a real box-fighter. He's Charley Schneider, recently of the Louisville (American Association) team, but now a bona fide member of the Stovallized aggregation, as he's signed to a contract. The pitcher-boxer doesn't answer to Schneider in the ring, however. With the pillows on his dukes, he's known as Jack Reynolds, the Brooklyn heavyweight. Schneider, or Reynolds, is a south paw on the ball field and a 158 performer when surrounded by the ropes. He served but one year in Louisville, having been picked up while playing on the New York and Brookln lots by one of Willie Grayson's scouts. Tom Cahill of St. Louis soccer fame, is one of Schneider's admirers. Tom says the big fellow will make good, or he doesn't know anything about penalty kicks or selling gold balls.

Jeff Tesreau, on Way Back to Farm, Says He Has Joined "Holdout" Army

By W. J. O'Connor.

Jefferson Tesreau, the massive Missourian who knuckled the Phillies down to a no-hit game and virtually carried the Giants to a pennant last season, after Rube Marquard blew a tire, called around Monday afternoon to say that he had not signed up. Jeff is on his way to his farm in St. Francis County, where he raises sugar cane and spring chickens.

He isn't an avowed holdout of the Koney, Cobb or Archer type, but nevertheless he hasn't signed. However, he'll return to St. Louis next Tuesday and be ready to go South with the van guard of Giants who will come through under command of Gen. McGraw, the craftiest tactician of them all. Tesreau thinks he can come to terms in a jiffy with the New York manager.

A Few Holdouts.

But speaking of Tesreau and hold-outs in general reminds us that one could muster a pretty sweet team from the present gang of unsigned pastimers. For instance:

Tesreau, pitch.
Archer, catch.
Koney, first base.
Lee Magee, second base.
Byrne, third base.
Shafer, shortstop.
Murray, left field.
Cobb, center field.
Crawford, right field.

We believe that a dissard manager of the Bresnahan stripe, for instance, could take this team and canter through the American League and then whipsaw the Giants for the world's blue ribbon title.

As second-string men, such balkers as Ivey Wingo, Bert Shotton, Eddie Plank, Ad Brennan, Hub Perdue, Larry Cheney and Jean Dubuc would be of no little assistance.

Pitcher Flame Delhi, a failure in Chicago, refuses to accept the terms tendered him by the San Francisco (Coast League) club. And Jack Gilligan, now of Sacramento, but once of the Browns, likewise is displeased with his new contract. But who cares, anyhow?

Bush to Go to Coast.

Garnett C. Bush, a St. Louis boy who last season tried to hold the indicator in the National League only to register a failure, has signed with the Coast League. Bush says the New York Giants ran him out of the big show. In a game between the Cubs and Giants, Devore failed to touch second in a sprint from first to third and when Evers called Bush's attention to the mistake the debutante umpire ruled Josh out. McGraw made it so hot for Bush that he eventually lost his job, so Garnett says.

Walter Rehg, the "sassiest kid in the National League," has signed with the Pirates. Rehg got his start in the local Trolley League, graduated to Hartford and then jumped to the Cornsilks of Clarke. He's an infielder but will be tried out as utility flychaser next season. Carey, Hofman and Wilson are slated for regular duty in the Pirates' outer defense.

Fezzo and Walters Matched.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 11.—Billy Walters of Chicago and Clarence "Wildcat" Ferns of Kansas City were matched today to box 15 rounds in St. Joseph, Mo., on Feb. 21.

HEDGES' TEAM IS WELL TREATED BY SCHEDULE MAKER

Twelve Saturdays, 12 Sundays and July 4 Among Plums Allotted Sportsman's Park.

Playing at home on 12 Saturdays and 12 Sundays as well as on July 4, the Browns, it can be said, have no reason to kick on the American League schedule for next season. Stovall's team will ring up at home against Detroit and close here on Sept. 7 against Chicago.

The Cleveland club will be at home on Decoration day, July 4 and Labor day, besides having 11 Saturdays and as many Sundays on their own stamping ground. This looks like the best assortment of dates on the new schedule.

Washington, last year's sensation, gets the plum of opening New York's season, Griff's gang meeting Chance's team at the Polo Grounds on April 15. Considering the big reception that will be tendered Chance, this looks like a prize piece of luck for the Cubbie cadets.

Season Opens Earlier.

The season will open one day earlier than heretofore. They ring up April 14 and ring down Oct. 5, against the April 15-Oct. 6 combination of last season.

The Detroit Club will pay its farewell visit to St. Louis on July 7.

There will be no conflicting dates in St. Louis. However, the Chicago teams will collide four times. The Sox will play 14 Saturdays and 15 Sundays at home.

LEFTY HIGH GETS BOOST AND SIGNS WITH TIGERS

Hugh (Lefty) High, the local boy who is the property of the Detroit club, has come to terms with Owner Navin. He has signed a contract calling for $300 a month, which represents an increase of $133.33 over the original offer. Navin's first contract as called for $166.66 per month. Lefty was more than that as a member of the Hartford (Conn.) club, which was managed last season by Bob Connery, the new Cleveland scout, so he held out.

STOCK PRICES SCORE RATHER WIDE LOSSES

Foreign Selling and Higher Money Rates Are Important Bear Factors.

Money Is Firmer on the London Market.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Money tight and discounts firmer. The general settlement commenced with stiffer carry-over rates, which caused a depressing tendency on the Stock Exchange and with Continental selling, the market closed easy. Mexico and Japanese bonds continued to be a disturbing factor, due to the political crisis. The congestion of new issues, mostly at discounts, depressed gilt-edge securities. It is rumored that banks are refusing to finance fresh loans for the time being, owing to congestion. The market for American securities ruled quiet and featureless during the early trading, but sagged in the afternoon on New York selling and closed easy.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Except for an advance to 4½ per cent in the early renewal rate, call money did not go above yesterday's 4 per cent rate today. Time money, however, was again quoted fractionally higher, and the general disposition seemed to be to look for continuance of firmness under present conditions.

"The position is undoubtedly somewhat peculiar, at least so far as regards the foreign exchange market and the gold exports for, if these shipments of gold are a measure of Europe's actual necessities, it is to be supposed that a rise in money rates here, such as might of itself obstruct further engagements, would be met by a raising of the foreign bid for money.

"The rate at London and Berlin is still above our own, and the London discount rate went a fraction higher today. But if, on the other hand, it were to be assumed that Europe needs remittances which our own bank position does not make convenient, then the value of money is legitimately higher.

Market Is Weak.

"On the stock exchange the tendency of prices was downward pretty much throughout the day, though the changes were irregular. So far as regards the general market, the vote of the Eastern railway firemen, authorizing their union officers to order a strike in default of agreement of their wage demands, had a natural depressing influence.

"Few people really looked, however, for an outright breach between employers and employes, especially since the firemen occupy no such position of strategic advantage in the industry as the engineers.

"There was no news of consequence from Constantinople or Mexico; the state of affairs in the last-named city, indeed, seemed to be that of two public buildings fortified against one another, with each awaiting developments outside.

"Union and Southern Pacific shares were somewhat conspicuously weak, despite the announcement that the Southern Pacific underwriting syndicate had been successfully arranged.

"Such weakness, under such conditions, is not unusual; even the news of the famous 'Pennsylvania stock underwriting' of 1902, was greeted at first by a fall in the stock below the subscription price. But naturally, holders of Union or Southern Pacific shares, who expect to exercise their subscription rights, would in some cases be disposed to realize on their present investments so as to provide the necessary capital."

"Banks renewed loans at 4½ per cent, which was the basis at which most of the new loans were made. Foreign exchange declined about ¼ cent to 4.87⅜ for demand bills.

"Nothing developed today to suggest that the foreign banks would press their bid for gold, and no more was engaged today; but the situation was such as to leave little doubt that the gold movement would be continued for the account of European banks if money rates decline again to the recent level.

"The banks lost heavily on their operations with the subtreasury, the loss since Friday footing up $4,875,000, as compared with a loss of $3,790,000 in the same days of last week.

"This was accounted for by the action of interior banks in drawing against their New York balances for Government payments, and in addition for payments on account of the redemption fund.

"Some large payments on new convertible bond issues, and the $40,000,000 payment soon to be made by the Standard Oil Co., as well as important dividend disbursements which must be made on Feb. 15, were other factors in the money market."

RAILWAYS COM. STOCK FEATURES LOCAL TRADING

Price Is About One Point Higher at $13.75; Other Issues Steady.

ST. LOUIS CLEARING HOUSE STATEMENT.

| | Clearings. | Balances. |
|---|---|---|
| Today | $13,203,041 | $1,341,616 |
| Last week | 13,481,858 | 1,581,760 |
| Decrease | $278,817 | $240,144 |

United Railways common stock was active and higher at the early speculation on the local Stock Exchange Tuesday, the price gaining nearly 1 point on active sales at $13.50. The preferred issue, however, showed an easier tone and sold at $42 to $41.75, against closing bids at the preceding session at $42.12½. The 4s were steady on a sale at $74.25.

National Bank of Commerce was active and about steady at $155, but the demand for other issues in this class was limited. The price range on the stocks quoted, however, showed no important changes.

The miscellaneous list was about steady. Bonds were neglected, but firm on the issues mentioned.

United Railways common sold at $13.75 at the second session, Commonwealth Trust at 93 and Title Trust at $75. Other issues were firm.

Local Money Market.

While it cannot be said that interest rates have shown any further easing, it may be stated with equal truth that the local market has not advanced in recent days. However, the tone of the St. Louis money market is very steady with every indication of no immediate further decline in quotations, due to the very unsettled conditions prevailing elsewhere. The internal money markets are in a most irregular position at this writing, which of course is in turn reflected in the interior financial centers, St. Louis included. Rates are 4½ to 5 per cent in the extremes at present.

Wheat futures reflected selling pressure Tuesday, and scored rather wide losses in the early trading. The decline was forced by weakness in the Chicago market, where it was asserted a Government suit against the Chicago Board of Trade for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in fixing the price of food products, would be filed immediately by Attorney-General Wickersham.

Other factors of bear importance were a weak stock market, an increase in the European wheat visible of 88,000 bu, against a 6,700,000 bu decrease last year, light cash demands and favorable winter wheat crop reports.

Corn also reflected bear pressure and lost a sharp fraction on professional selling. Argentine reports were more favorable, and cables were easier. The recent run-in of shorts made for a weaker technical position. Oats were lower along with the other grains.

The official Liverpool cable said: "Weaker American cables and the free Plate offers were offset by the improved demand for cash and firmer cargo offers and prices at the opening were unchanged to ⅛d lower. Following the opening there was free covering on unfavorable reports from India, where rains were insufficient, and free absorption of arrivals. Australian offers are firmly held. Later there were reports received here of general light rains in India, and this caused some profit-taking, but the market was steady and unchanged to fractionally higher than yesterday.

"Corn opened unchanged to ⅛d lower on the easier American cables. Later the Plate grade advanced ⅜d on increasing scarcity and the advance in spot. Shorts covered freely. The American grade declined ⅛d on the pressure of spots and expectations of free arrivals.

"The corn crop in Western provinces of Argentina is improving as a result of the recent rain. The weather has turned hot."

Liverpool wheat futures closed unchanged to ⅛d up; corn, ⅛d up to ⅛d lower; Paris wheat, ¼c lower; flour, ¼c to 1c lower; Antwerp wheat, ⅝c lower; Berlin, ⅛c lower; Budapest, 1c lower.

Minneapolis wheat cars were 177, against 228 last week and 186 last year. Duluth, 204, against 124 and 10. Winnipeg, 373, against 332 and 981. Minneapolis wheat stocks, 200,000 bu in three days.

Local wheat receipts were 98,400 bu, or 67 cars local, 15 through; last year 124,800 bu, or 96 cars local, 8 through. Corn receipts 162,000 bu, or 82 cars local, 53 through; last year 422,400 bu, or 291 cars local, 61 through. Oats receipts 74,800 bu, or 30 cars local, 14 through; last year 154,700 bu, or 60 cars local, 31 through. Last year's figures are for 3 days.

European wheat visible this week, 79,592,000 bu, increase 88,000 bu; previous week 79,501,000 bu, increase 1,896,000 bu; last year 75,700,000 bu, decrease 6,700,000 bu.

Bradstreet's detailed report showed: Wheat, United States and east of Rockies, increase 30,000 bu; United States and west of Rockies, decrease 231,000 bu; Canada, decrease 1,045,000 bu; United States and Canada, decrease 1,246,000 bu; afloat and in Europe, increase 100,000 bu; total decrease 1,146,000 bu. Corn increase 3,125,000 bu. Oats increase 1,218,000 bu.

Minneapolis wired: "Cash market firm. Fair demand. No. 1 Northern blue stem, May price to ¾c under May. Velvet chaff, 1¼c to 1½c under May. Flour sales continue light.

"The Union Pacific crop report, just issued, shows acreage, 98 per cent of 1912, seeded to wheat in Nebraska. Speaks of lack of precipitation, but no damage has been sustained, crop looking very favorable for this season of the year. Cattle and sheep in states of Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado doing fine. At no time this winter has it been necessary to feed; snowfall not heavy enough to prevent ranging.

"Chicago grain stocks in store: Wheat, total, 7,458,000, decrease, 79,000 bu; corn, 2,103,000, increase 611,000; oats, 3,601,000, increase 547,000. Contract stocks: Wheat, 3,892,000, increase 45,000; corn, 119,000, decrease 33,000; oats, 326,000, decrease, 1000.

"Clearances: Wheat, 342,000 bu; flour, 54,000; corn, 206,000; oats, 20,000; wheat and flour, 495,000."

Chicago wheat cars were 80; corn, 1185; oats, 182. Estimated Wednesday: Wheat, 98; corn, 811; oats, 260.

Trading was less active during the afternoon and prices reacted to a point or so under the closing figures of last night under realizing for over the holiday. The closing was irregular.

The Count at Home.

"YES," remarked the returned tourist with a reminiscent smile. "I was continually bumping into old friends and acquaintances while abroad. Went into a fashionable barber shop in the Rue-de-Saint Gerard, in Paris, and whom do you suppose I met there?"

"Oh, I'm no good at guessing," said his friend. "Who was it?"

"The Count of Pompadour, who cut such a swell at Newport a year or so ago."

"Let's see—you and the Count didn't mix very well at Newport. Did he condescend to speak?"

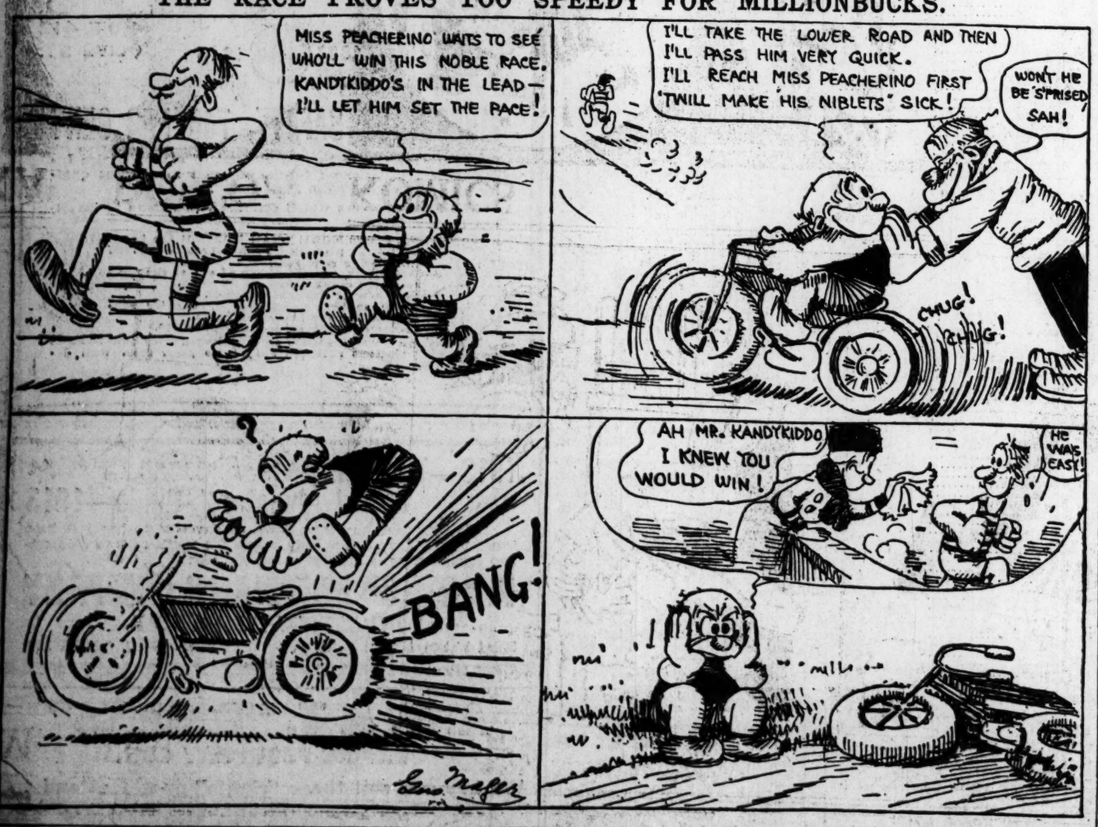

"He certainly did. The moment I entered the tonsorial parlors, he smiled and said, 'Monsieur is next!'"
—Judge.

Paw Knows Everything.

WILLIE: Paw, what is a stable government?

Paw: When the party in power displays horse sense, my son.

THE RACE PROVES TOO SPEEDY FOR MILLIONBUCKS.

"Doc, are broiled lobsters unhealthy late at night?"
"Well, if the broiling doesn't harm them I can't see how a little thing like late hours should injure their health."

"You say Yuma Bill died like a dog?"
"Yes, stranger, he ketched a cough, an' jes' nachilly barked himself to death."

The Robber.

THE kindly old gentleman stopped to watch a wee tot who was diligently searching the sidewalk for something and at the same time sobbing loudly.

"What have you lost, little girl?" he finally ventured.

"Boo, hoo!" came the reply between sniffles, "I've lost my nickel."

Touched by the child's grief, the old gentleman extracted a five-cent piece from his pocket, pressed it in the little tot's palm and said:

"There, there, little girl, here's your nickel. Now stop crying."

To his surprise, the child flashed on him a look of bitter contempt.

"Why, you wicked old man," she said, stamping her tiny foot, "you had my nickel all the time!"

Too Late.

"AH," sighed the unhappy bigamist, "that I had obeyed that Biblical injunction, 'No man can serve two masters.'"
